Revelations xi. i4.

THE SECOND WOE IS PAST; AND BEHOLD THE third woe cometh Quickly!

ITHINK I may addrefs you as our Lord did his hearers upon another occafion: "This day is "this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." Were I to fearch the facred prophecies over from beginning to end, I could not find a paffage more in feafon than this. I am perfuaded that the Second Woe is now juft paft, and that the Third Woe cometh quickly, and will begin immediately to follow the conclufion of the Second.
In order to caft what light I can upon this paffage, I fhall take notice in a brief manner of the Three Woe Trumpets: Two of which I believe are now finifhed, and the Third juft beginning to. found. For though it is very evident that all the Trumpets brought great woes and deftructions upon the Earth, yet the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh, are by way of eminence called, the Woe Trumpets, as B
the deftructions and miferies that have befallen, and fhall befal mankind under them, are far greater, and of longer continuance than thofe under the firft four. For after the four firlt angels had founded, and very awful judgments and defolations had followed, which refer to events long fince paft and gone, St. John fays, "And I beheld, and heard " an Angel flying through the midft of Heaven, "f faying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to " the inhabiters of the earth, by reafon of the " other voices of the trumpets of the three Angels " which are yet to found." Chap. viii. I3.

We are naturally led from this proclamation to expect very awful woes and defolations to follow; and we fhall not be difappointed.

Chap. ix. 1. 2. "And the fifth Angel founded, " and I faw a Star fall from heaven unto the earth: "f and to him was given the key of the bottomlefs pit. "And he opened the bottomlefs pit, and there " arofe a fmoke out of the pit, as thie fmoke of a " great furnace; and the fun and the air were dark" ened, by reafon of the fmoke of the pit."
By this Star, I undertand the impofor Mahomet, by whom a falfe religion was fet up, which has had a very extenfive fpread, infomuch that it has filled a confiderable part of the world with error and darknefs; and which religion did not come down from heaven, but rofe out of the bottomlefs pit, and has been extended by the agency of the angel of the bortomlefs pit, or the great deftroyer of mankind. It feems aftonifhing, that a religion fo falfe, fenfelefs, and ftupid, Hould have ever prevailed where Chriftianity in its purity had been known! But it was permitted by God, as a dreadful woe, to punifh thofe Chriftians who had loft the truth, life, and power of their religion, and had in a manner turned their light into darknefs, and degenerated into mere idolators. And befid es, it was propagated by the fword, without which it would never have been fpread in the world at all. This falfe prophet is very aptly and juftly typified by a blazing ftar, or meteor, and his religion by fmoke and darknefs out of the bottomlefs pit, which darkened the fun and the air.

Verfe 3. "And there came out of the fmoke "Locufts upon the earth; and unto them was "given powier, as the fcorpions of the earth have "power."
Moft expofitors agree that thefe locufts reprefent the armies of the Saracens, who came forth with the doctrine of Mahomet in their mouths, and arms in their hands, to deftroy the remains of the Chriftian Faith, and to conquer the fineft parts of the eaftern empire. The Arabians are properly compared to locufts, not only becaufe numerous armies are frequently compared to them, but alfo becaufe fwarms of locufts often arife from Arabia, and alfo becaufe in the plagues of Egypt, to which conftant allufion is made in thefe trumpets; the locufts were brought by an eaft wind, and came from Arabia, which lies eaftward of Egypt: and alfo becaufe in the book of Judges the people of Arabia are compared to locutts or grafshoppers for multitude. As the natural locufts are bred in pits and holes of the earth, fo thefe myftical locufts are truly infernal, and proceed with the darknefs from the bottomlefs pit." "Thefe had power, as the "fcorpions of the earth have power;"-a proper fimilitude to exprefs their great power to deftroy and torment mankind.

Verfe 4. "And it was commanded them that "they fhould not hurt the grafs of the earth, nei" ther any green thing, neither any tree ; but only " thole men which have not the Seal of God in their "foreheads."

This plainly fhews that they are not natural locufts, which commonly feed upon grafs and green things, but figurative locufts, which are rightly explained to mean the Arabians; to whom thefe orders were given, when they were marching to invade Syria, "Deftroy no palm-trees, nor burn any "fields of corn : cut down no fruit-trees, nor do "any mifchief to cattle, only fuch as you kill to "eat." Their commiffion was to hurt only thofe men who had not the feal of God in their foreheads; that is, thofe who were not the true fervants of God, but corrupt and idolatrous Chriftians: Their wars were chiefly intended for the propagation of the Mahometan religion; their aim was not fo much to hurt individuals in their property, as to eftablifh their principles among them, in oppofition to a corrupted Chriftianity that had taken place. And it appears evident from hiftory, that in thofe countries of Afia, Africa, and Europe, where the Saracens extended their conquelts, the Chriftians were generally guilty of Idolatry, in worihipping faints, if not images; and it was the pretence of Mahomet and his followers to chaftife them for it, and to re-eftablifh the unity of the Godhead.

Verfe 5. "And to them it was given, that they "fhould not kill them, but that they fhould be tor" mented five months; and their torment was as "' the torment of a fcorpion, when he ftriketh a man."

Thefe Saracens, or Arabians, compared to Locuits, were only to hurt thofe men who had not the feal of God in their foreheads, and they were not commiffioned to kill or wholly deftroy them politically; but were allowed greatly to harrafs, diftrefs, and torment them. And this was to be the care for five months, which time is twice repeat. ed.

(7)

The five months are fuppofed to agree with the incurfions of the Saracens, in feveral refpects. Firf, It is in the five fummer months, from May to September, that the Locufts deftroy the produc* tions of the earth; fo in thefe months the Saracens made their invafions. Locufts are obferved to live about five months, viz. from April to September; and if we take thefe five months for natural months, then as the natural Locufts live and do hurt only in the five fummer months, fo the Arabians made their excurfions in the five fummer months, and retreated again in the winter. It appears that this was their ufual practice, and particularly when they firft befieged Conftantinople, in the time of Conftantine Pogonatus. For from the month of April until September, they pertinacioully continued their fiege, and then defpairing of fuccefs, departed to Cyzicum, where they wintered, and in fpring again renewed the war: and this courfe they held for feven years, as the Greek annals tells.us.

Secondly, Some think that the time of five months is to be underfteod prophetically, for one hundred and fifty years; and it is very remarkable that within that time the Saracens made their principal conquefts. Their empire might fubfirt much longer, but their power of hurting and tormenting men was exerted chiefly within that period. Read the hiftory of the Saracens, and you will find their greateft exploits were performed, and their greateft conquefts conquefts made, betweeen the year fix hundred and twelve, when Mahomet firft opened the bottomlefs pit, and began publickly to teach and propagate his impofture, and the year feven hundred and fixty two, when the Caliph Almanfor, built Bagdat, to fix there the feat of his empire, and called it, the City of Peace. Syria, Perfia, India, and the greateft part of Afia; Egypt, and the greateft part of Africa; Spain, and fome parts of Europe, were all, fubdued in the intermediate time.

Thirdly, If thefe months be taken doubly, for three hundred years, then according to Sir Ifaac Newton in his Obfervations on the Revelations, "the whole time that the Caliphs of the Saracens "reigned with a temporal dominion at Damafcus " and Bagdat together, was three hundred years; "viz. from the year fix hundred and thirty-feven, "to the year nine hundred and thirty-fix inclufive," when their empire was broken, and divided into feveral principalities or kingdoms. So that let thefe five months be taken in any poffible conftruction, the event will ftill anfwer, and the prophecy be fulfilled; though perhaps the fecond method of interpretation and application is beft.

Their torment being like the torment of a fcorpion when he ftriketh a man, fignifies, that as a fcorpion puts a man to extreme pain and torture by piercing his natural body, fo the Saracens tor-mented by piercing and wounding the political body oft he Roman empire.

Ver. 6. "And in thofe days fhall men feek "death, and thall not find it ; and fhall defire to "s die, and death fhall flee from them."

The Saracen woe muft have been great and terrible indeed, to caufe men to wifh for death, ra: ther than to fee and feel the miferies caufed by their invafions and irruptions; it would have been far more defirable to the nations they harraffed to have been made provinces of their empire, and thereby to have enjoyed peice, than to be continually tormented with their invafions.

( 9 )

Verfe 7. "And the fhapes of the locufts were " like unto horfes prepared unto battle; and on " their heads were, as it were, crowns like gold, and "their faces were as the faces of men."

In this and feveral following verfes, the nature and qualities of thefe locufts are defcribed, partly in allufion to the properties of natural locufts, and the defcription given of them by Joel the prophet, and partly in allufion to the manners and cuftoms of the Arabians, to fhew that not real but figurative locufts are here intended.
The firft quality mentioned is their being like wato horfes prepared unto the batcle; which is copied from Joel ii. 4. "The appearance of them (the locufts) "is as the appearance of horfes, and as horfemen fo "flall they run." Many authors have obferved that the head of a locuft refembles that of an horfe. The Italians therefore, call them Cavalette, as it were little horles. It is a ftriking and beautiful reprefentation of the fwiftnefs and expedition with which an army confifting of horfemen, invade and ravage a country. The Arabians have in all ages been famous for their horfes and horfemanhip; their ftrength is well known to confift chiefly in their cavalry.

Another diftinguifhing mark and character, is their having on their beads, as it were, crowns like gold; which feems to be an allufion to the head-drefs of the Arabians, who have conftantly worn turbans or mitres, and boaft of having thofe ornaments in their their common atture, which are crowns and diadems with other people. The crowns may alfo fignify the kingdoms and dominions which they thould acquire : For, as Mr. Mede excellentiy obferves, "No nation had eyer fo wide a command, " nor ever were fo many kingdoms, fo many res ginus fubjugated in fo fhort a face of time. It "founds incredible, yet moft true it is, that in the " Space of eighty, or not many more years, they "fubdued and acquired to the diabolical empire of "Mahomet, Paleftine, Syria, both Armenias, al" moft all Afia Minor, Perfia, India, Egypt, Nu" midia; all Barbary, even to the river Niger; "Portugal, Spain. Neither did their fortune or " ambition ftop here, till they had added alifo a " great part of Italy, as far as to the gates of Rome ; " moreover, Sicily, Candia, Cyprus, and the other "' ifles of the Mediterranean fea. How great a tract " of land! how many crowns are here! Whence " alfo it is worthy of obfervation, that mention is " not made here, as in other trumpets, of the third " part ; forarmuch as this plague fell no lefs with"out the bounds of the Roman empire than with" in it, and extended itfelf even to the remoteft "Indies."

Their faces being like the faces of men, fhews them not to be real, but only figurative locufts: and it is faid that the Arabians wore their beards, or at leaft muftachoes, which gave them a manly appearance; and poffibly their faces being like men, may intend their pretences of ufing reafon and arguments like men, in order to fpread and propagate their religion in the world.

Verfe 8. "And they had hair as the hair of "women, and their teeth were as the teeth of " lions."

Though

( 11 )

Though they wore long muftachoes to make themfelves appear like men, yet they wore long hair, dreffed and plaited, or flowing like that of women. This was the cuftom of the Arabians, as feveral authors teltify, and is another proof that natural locuifts cannor be intended, but the Saracens, who are all along defrribed in this vifion. Their effeminacy and luft, to which they were extremely addicted, are hinted at here, as well as their manner of drefs and attire. Their teeth as the teeth of lions, is a defcription copied from Joel's prophecy refpecting the natural lucufts, "A nation, whe fe teeth are "the teech of a lion, and he hath the cheek teeth "s of a great lion :" J eel i. 6. that is, ftrong to devour; and it is wonderful to obferve with what rapacioufnefs the natural locufts bite and devour all before them, and gnaw, as Pliny fays, even, the doors of houfes. And how amazingly ftrong the Arabians were, like lions, to devour and eat up the riches of the people, during the time that GoD permitted them to ravage and deftroy the countries!

Verfe 9. "And they had breaft-plates, as it were "breaft-plates of iron; and the found of their " wings was as the found of chariots of many horfes "running to battle."

There feems in this defcription of the figurative locufts, or Arabians, conftant allufions to the Prophet Joel's defcription of the natural locufts, as any one may perceive that compares them together. In chap. ii. verfe 8. fpeaking of the locults, he fays, "When they fall upon the fword they flall not be " wounded." And it is obfervable, that the natural locuft hath about its body a pretty hard fhell, of the colour of iron; fo that herein the

fymbol of the breaft-plate is exactly fuited to the natural locuft. This metaphor is defigned to exprefs the defenfive arms of the Saracens, as the teetb of lions was defigned to exprefs their offenfive and deftriying weapons.

Joel alfo defcribes the natural locufts in their march, in much the fame language as St. John here ufes: Joel ii. 4, 5. "The appearance of them is as the "d appearance of horfes; and as horfemen fo thall "they run. Like the noife of chariots on the tops "f of mountains fliall they leap, like the noife of a "flame of fire that devoureth the fubble, as a "Atrong penple fet in battle array."

The locufts when they come in large bodies make fuch a noife with their wings, that they might almoft be taken for birds. Their wings, and lbe found of their wings, denote the fwiftnefs and rapidity of their conquefts; and it is indeed aftonihing, that in lefs than a century they erected an empire, which extend. ed from India to Spain. They not only conquered and poffeffed all Spain, except a few inacceffible places in the mountains which they defpifed, but they paffed over the Pyrenean mountains into France; and after many ravages in feveral parts of the country, they came to a decifive battle with Charles Martel, in which Aldirachman was killed, with his numerous army. They advanced, as to a certain vietory, with their wives and children, as defigning to dwell in France; their army confifted of about four hundred thoufand; and there was fought one of the moft bloody battles, and moft obftinate fights that the world ever beheld. The flaughter was almoft incredible ; three hundred and feventy thoufand were killed. This was about the year 734; and if this battle had not put a ftop tó theis their progrefs, they in all probability would foon have conquered Europe, and poffeffed the whole Chriftian world, fo called. But after this defeat the Saracens or Moors made no farther conquefts in Europe, and were afterwards quite driven out of Spain alfo. France, in that inftance, ftood as the great rampart of Chriftianity, by preventing thefe locufts of the bottomefs pit from overfpreading all the earth.

Verfe io. "And they had tails like unto fcor"pions, and they had ftings in their tails; and " their power was to hurt men five months."
Thefe Arabians are thrice in this defription compared to fcorpions; verfes 3,5,10. Unto them "was given porver, as the forpions of the carth bave "porver; and their torment was as the tormeni of a " frorpion when be friketh a man; and they had tails "like unto foorpions, and there were fings in their "tails," &c. Thefe expreffions Thew that they were hurtful and very mifchievous, and exceedingly tormented mankind; and not only. fo, but they drew a poifonous train after them, and wherever they carried their arms, there alfo they diftilled the venom of a falfe religion; thereby doing more effential injury to the fouls of men, than fcorpions could do to their bodies. Their invafions caufed great pain, uneafineifs and torment wherever they came, fo as to make men wifh for death; and they carried with them the poifon of error and delufion, which has ever fince prevailed over many millions of the human race; and they not only deftroyed learning and knowledge, but in a great meafure put out or obfcured the light of the gofpel, by their darknefs, through all the eaft countries, where it had fhone with the greateft fplendor. We muft not fuppofe that they did not kill of deftroy multitudes of men, as individuals, but they did not overthrow or totally deftroy the kingdoms of the earth, or the eatern part of the Roman empire; that was referved for another power, as we flall fee prefently; but they continued for a certain time to hurt, diftefs, torment, and almof to ruin the feveral kingdoms and fates into which they made their inroads.

Ver. 11. "And they had a king over them, "which is the angel of the bottomefs pit, or whofe name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, " but in the Greck tongue hath his name Apol"lyon."

It is an obfervation of Agur, ${ }^{66}$ The locufts have "ro king, yet gothey forth all of them by bands;" Prov. xxx. 27. Though the natural locufts have no king, yet thefe figtuative locufts have one, who is called, the ingel of the bottonlefs pit, whofe name in both Hebrew and Greek fignifies a defiroyer. This might feem to intimate that Satan, or the Devil himfelf, was by way of eminence the king or leader of the Saracens, and the prime author of their religion and government : and there is no doubt but he had a principal hand in the matter, and that they were under his influence, and devoted to his fervice, and they feem to have been infpired with his fpirit. But Bifhop Newton, and fome others, think that Mahomet himfelf is intended; the following are his words: "It is farther "added, that they bad a king over them: The fame "perfon flould exercife temporal as well as fpiritual "fovereignty over them; and the Caliphs were "their'emperors, as well as the heads of their re" ligion. The king is the fame as the fat or angel "c of the lotionlefs pit, whofe name is Abaddon in ${ }^{66}$ Hebrew, and Apollyon in Greek, that is, the de${ }^{6}$ Aroyer.
of froyer. Mr. Mede innagines, that this is fome allu"fion to the na:ne of Obodas the common names of "the kings of that part of Arabia from whence Ma" homet came, as Pbarabl was the common name of ${ }^{6}$ the kings of Egypt, and $C_{f}$ ar of the emperors " of Rome: and tuch allufions are not unufual in "the file of Scripture. However that be, the name "agrees perfectly well wish Muhomet and the Ca". liphs his fucceffors, who were the authors of all "thofe horrid wars and defulations, and openly "taught and profeffed that their religion was to "s be propagated and eftablifhed by the fword. *" Verfe

* It may, perhaps, be agreeable to the younger part of my readers, to give here a fhort account of this Leader or King of the Saracens, out of Prideaux's Life of Mahomet.
"About the year of Chrift 606, Mabomit began to pretend to Revelation, and converfe with the Angel Gao briel, in a folitary cave, vear Mecca, in Arabia.
" In the year 008, which was the fortieth of his age, he began to take the file of the Apoftle of God; and to propagate his impofture, he pretended not to deliver a new religion, but to revive the old religion God firft gave to Adam : and by many other fpecious pretences of receiving his Revelations from the angel Gabriel, he gained feveral profelytes. Yet the people of Mecca, where he lived, were fo averfe to his impofture, that they refolved to frrike at the root, and prevent the fpreading of farther mifo chief, by cutting him off who was the chief author of it; fo that he was furced to fly from Mecca to Medina, then called ₹atbreb. This was in the year 622, from which Aight of Mahomet, the Hegira, or computation of Time among the Mahometans, begins.

${ }^{66}$ From

16 )  Verfe 12. "One woe is paft, and behold there "come two woes more hereafter."

ec From this time he tells his difciples, his religion was not to be propagated by di/puting, but by fighting.
"Accordingly the next year, 623, he fell upon the traders of Mecca, though guarded by a thoufand men, and beat thems; and fpent the reft of the year in robbing, plundering, and deftroying all thore who would not come in to him, and embrace his religion.
"The next year he continued the fame courfe, and fought a battle with a larger number of his oppofers, in which he was overborne, and himfelf grievoully wounded. To prevent the ill effects this difgrace might have on the minds of his followers, he taught them, that the time of life being determined by God, they who thould be flain. in battle, died no fooner than they muft otherwife have done; and as they died fighting for the faith, they gained the crown of Martyrdom, and the rewards of Paradife.
" In the year 627 , he was attacked by an army of ten thoufand men, from which danger he very dexteroufly extricated himfelf; and the fame year was inaugurated in the fupreme authority, and made Head in all things civil and religious.
"In the year 629 Mahomet had an army of ten thoufand men; "fo that he very foon brought moft parts of Arabia into his power.
"In the year 630 he turned his arms towards Syria, In the year 631, all the Arabs came in, ' and fubmitted to him; and in the following year 632, he himfelf died, being 63 years of age, by the Arabian account, which make only 6I of ours. So that Mahomet within the face of twen-ty-four years, founded a new religion, and a new empire, throughout the large country of Arabia, a country bigger

I truft it is very evident, by what has been oblerved from the foregoing verfes, that the rife, progrefs, and conquefts of Mahomet and his fucceflors, and the ravages of the Arabians, may properly be called the firft woe; as it was indeed a moft dreadful woe to the Chriftian world fo called, and to the inhabitants of all the countries where they committed their depredations.

The fimilitude between the Locufs and the Arabians is fo great, that it muft frike every curious obferver; and a farther refemblance is noted by Mr. Daubuz: that "There hath happened in the ex"tent of this torment, a coincidence of the event "with the nature of the locufts. The Saracens "have made inroads into all thofe parts of Chriften"dom where the natural locufts are wont to be "feen and known to do mifchief, and no where elfe; " and that too in the fame proportion. Where the "locults are feldom feen, there the Saracens ftaid "r little: where the natural locutts are often feen, " there than Germany, Italy, Spain; France, Great Britain, and Ireland together. Which, fays Dr. Prideaux, "God has "permitted, in his all-wife Providence, to continue a "fcourge unto us Chriftians, who having received fo holy " and fo excellent a religion, through his mercy towards " us in Chrift Jefus our Lord, will not conform ourfelves " to live worthy of it."

It is indeed a moft aftonifhing event, that this one man thould have rifen from nothing, in fo fhort a time, to fuch great power, authority, and dominion; and that the impoflure which he propagated for religion thould have continued already for almoft twelve hundred years, and during that time Phouid have as many profeffid adherents as Chiflianity itfelf, if not more! But I hope this will not remain the cafe much longer.

( 18 )

" there the Saracens abode moft; and where they " breed moft, there the Saracens had their begin"s ning and greateft power. This may be eafily veri"fied by hiftory."

The fudden invafion of the Saracens, the fwift and almoft incredible progrefs of their arms, many circumftances peculiar to this people, and their invafions, which fufficiently diftinguifh them from all the invafions of the norchern nations, very properly anfwer the prophetic defcription of thefe locults out of the bottomlefs pit. And the amazing miferies which they caufed wherever they came, flaying many, carrying many others captive, feizing the fpoils and treafures of the countries, deftroying libraries, the repofitories oflearning; abufing women, fubjecting them to their brutal Jutts, and efpecially propagating a falfe religion in the world; all thefe things proved them to be the firft terrible woe, which took place under the founding of the fifth Trumpet. This woe is paft long ago, and I hould not have noticed it fo particularly, but in order to throw light upon the fubject I am about to treat of, viz. the conclufion of the fecond woe. At the end of the firft woe it is faid, One wooe is paft,' and bebold there come two woes more bereafler. This is added not only to diftinguifh the woes, and to mark more ftrongly each period, but alfo to fuggeft that fome time would intervene between this firft woe, of the Arabian locufts, and the next of the Euphratean horfemen.

We now pafs to notice, briefly, the Second Woe; which begun with founding the Sixth Trumpet, and is juft now ended. And though I cannot fpeak of all the events that have taken place under the found of the Sixth Trumpet, in this difcourfe, yet it will be a fatisfaction if I thould be able to point out with certainty any event that was to take place at the beginning of the Second Woe, and another that was to clofe it, and fhew them both to be paft; then it will appear evident to all, that the Second Woe is both begun and finifhed. I know of no better way to exprefs my thoughts, than to read the propheric defcription, and then fet dowis the hif. toric account.

Verfes 13. i4." And the fixth angel founded, " and I heard a voice from the four horns of the "golden altar, which is before God, faying to "the fixth Angel, who had the Trumpet, Loofe "the four angels which are bound in the great ri" ver Euphrates."

Another dreadful plague, or woe, was about to come upon the world, as a punifhment for their fins; and therefore a voice was heard from the four horns of the golden altar, ordering the angel to loofe four deftroying angels, to deftroy mankind. Such a voice proceeding from the golden altar, is a ftrong indication of the divine difpleafure; and plainly thews the fins of men muft be very great, when the altar which fhould have been their fanctuary and prorection, called aloud for vengeance upon them.

I take thefe four angels to be the four fultanies, or four leaders of the Turks and Othmans. For there were four principal fultanies, or kingdoms, of the Turks, bordering upon the river Euphrates. One at Bagdad, founded by Togrul Beg, or Tangrolipix, as he is commonly called, in the year 1055 another at Damafcus, founded by Tagjuddaulus, or Ducas, in the year 1079: a third founded by Sjarfuddaulus, or Melech, in the fame year 1079: and the fourth at Iconium, in Afia Minor, founded by Sedyduddaulas or Cutlu Mufes, or his fon, in the year 1080.

Thefe four Sultanies fubfifted feveral years after wards; and the Sultans iwere bound and reftrained from extending their conquefts farther than the territories and countries adjoining to the river Euphrates, primarily by the Providence of God, and in a fecondary fenfe by the Croifades or expeditions of the European Chriftians into the holy land, in the latter part of the eleventh, and in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. Nay, the European Chriftians took feveral cities and countries from them, and confined them within narrower bounds. But when an end was put to the Croifades, and the Chriftians totally abandoned their conquefts in Sy ria and Paleftine, as they did in the latter part of the thirteenth century; then the four angels were loofed that had been before bound in or near the great river Euphirates.
Soliman Shah, the firt Chief and founder of the Othman race, retreating with his three fons from Jingiz Chan, and the Tartars, would have paffed the river Euphrates, but was drowned, the rime of loofing the four angels being not yet comes Difcouraged at this accident, two of his fons returned to their former habitations; but Ortogrul the third, with his three fons Condoz, Sarubani, and Othman, remained fome time in thofe parts, and having obtained leave of Aladin, Sultan of Iconium, he came with four hundred of his Turks, and fettled in the mountains of Armenia. From thence they began their excurfions; and the other Turks affociating with them, and following their fandard, they gained feveral victories over the Tartars on one fide, and over the Chriftians on the other.

Ortogrul died in the year 1288, and Othman his fon fucceeded him in power and authority; and in the year 1299, as fome fay, with the confent of Aladin himfelf, he was proclaimed Sul. tan, and the founder of a new empire: and the people afterwards, as well as the new empire, were called by his name. For though they difclaim the name of Turks, and affume that of Otbmans, yet it is certain that they are a mixt multitude, the remains of the four Sultanies above mentioned, as well as the defcendants of the houfe of Othman.

Verfe 15. "And the four angels were loofed, " which were prepared for an hour and a day, and "a month and a year, for to flay the third part of " men."

In this manner, and at this time the four angels were loofed, which were prepared for an bour, and a day, and a montb, and a year, to flay the third part of mei. I reckon them to be loofed from the time of Ortogrul, who begun to encroach upon the Chriftians, and who laid the foundation of the prefent Turkih empire. The Turks, or Othmans were certainly prepared, for a feafon, not only to torment, but to llay the third part of men; that is? the men of the Roman empire, and efpecially in Europe, the third part of the world. The Latin, or Weftern empire, was broken to pieces under the four firf Trumpets; the Greek or eafern empire, was cruelly burt and tormented under the fifth Trum: pet; and it is predicted that under the fixth trumpet it is to be flain and utterly defroyed. Accordingly all Afia Minor, Syria, Paleftine, Egypt, Thrace, Macedon, and all the countries which belonged to the Greek or Eaftern Cæfars, the Othmans have conquered and fubjected to their dominions. And they at prefent have one of the largeft empires in the world, and poffefs the moft lovely parts of the globe; almort all the countries that are mentioned in the Scriptures belong to them at this time; yea, the Holy Land itfelf, of which we read fo much in the Bible, forms but a very fmall and diminutive part of their dominion.

They firft paffed over into Europe in the year 1357, in the reign of Orchan, their fecond emperor. They took Conftantinople, the capital of the Eaftern empire, May 29th, 1453 , in the reign of Mahomet their feventh emperor. Then they flew Conftantine Paleologus the laft Greek emperor, and put an end to that empire, which had fubfilted from the time of Conitantine the Great. And in time all the remaining part of the Greek empire thared the fate of the capital city.

The laft of their conquetts was Candia, or ancient Crete, in the year 1669 , and Cameniac, in the year 1672 .

We may reckon the Turks as the greateft deftroyers of the human race that were ever raifed up; and therefore they are faid to be prepared to flay the third part of men; and it is likely that in the courfe of their wars they may have actually ylain as many perfons as would amount to nearly one third of all the people now living upon the earth, The expreffion, the third part of men, may not be intended to convey the idea of exactly one third of men, but may chiefly be defigned to fignify many, or a confderable part of the whole; and to deftroy the thind part of men will then intend, that the deftroying armies, now looted from the river Euphrates, which had been one of the great boundaries of the enipire, fhould take away the lives of a great number of perfons, whofe coun-countries they fhould on this permiffion invade and conquer.

For the execution of this great work, it is faid that they were prepared for an bour, and a day, and a month, and a year; which will admit either of a literal or a myttical interpretation; and the former will hold good, if the latter fhould fail. If it be taken literally, it is only expreffing the fame thing by different words, as peoples, and multitudes, and wations, and tongues, are jointly ufed in other places: and then the meaning is, that they were prepared and ready to execute the divine commiffion at any rime, or for any time, any bour, or day, or month, or year, that God fhould appoint. If it be taken myitically, and the bour and day, and montb, and year, be a prophetic bour, and day, and month, and year, then a year (according to St. John's computation, who follows that of Daniel) confifting of three hundred and fixty days, is three hundred and fixty years; and a monib confifting of thirty days is thirty years; and a day is a year; and an bour, in the fame proportion is fifteen days. So that the whole period of the Othmans flaying the third part of men, or fubduing the Chriftian States, in the Greek or Roman empire, amounts to three hundred and ninetyone years and fifteen days.

Now it is wonderfully remarkable, that the firft conqueft of the Othmans over the Chriftians, was in the year of the Hegira, 680, and in the year of Chrift 1281. For Ortogrul, in that year, (according to the accurate hiftorian Saadi) crowned his victories with the conqueft of the famous city Ku tahi, from the Greeks:-Compute three hundred and ninety-one years from that time, and they will cerminate in the year 1672 ; and, in that year Mahomet homet the fourth took Cameniac from the Poles, and forty-eight towns and villages in the territory of Cameniac were delivered up to the Sultan, upon the treaty of peace. Whereupon Prince Cantemir hath made this memorable reflection, "This was "the laft victory by which any advantage accrued "s to the Othman ftate, or any city or province " was annexed to the ancient bounds of the em. "pire."

Other wars and flaughters have fince taken place. The Turks even befieged Vienna in the year 1683 ; but this exceeding their commiffion, they were defeated. Belgrade, and other places have been taken from them, and furrendered to them again; but fill they have fubdued no new, ftate or potentate of Chriftendom, for the face of an hundred. and twenty years paft; but on the contrary, the Ruffians of late, within that time, have taken part of their dominions from them; and it is likely will diminifh them more and more.

Here then the prophecy and the event agree exact: sy in the pericd of three hundred and ninety-one years; and if we had more accurate and authentic hiftories of the Othmans, and knew the very day on which Kutahi was taken, as certainly as we may know that wherein Cameniac was taken, the like exactnefs would doubtlefs be found in the fifteen days.
But though the time be limited for the Othmans, flaying the third part of men, yet no time is fixed for the duration of their empire. I am perfuaded that they will be the principal leaders in the army that Shall come againt the children of Ifrael, after their return to their own land, and fhall be deftroyed aa the coming of the Lord, as mentioned by the Prophets Ezekiel and Zachariah.

But as the ending of the firft rooe did not mean that the Arabians hould be wholly deftroyed, but only that their time of hurting men fhould be paft; fo alfo the ending of the fecond woe does not intend the total deftruction of the Turkigh empire, but only that their time of deftroying the third part of men is at an end.
Verfe 16. "And the number of the army of the " horfemen were two hundred thoufand thoufand : "t and I heard the number of them."

The Turks are well known to be very numerous, and to have large bodies of cavalry ; but the amazing number of two hundred million, or myriads of myriads, cannot be fuppofed to be brought into the field at once; as all the men upon the earth would farcely amount to fuch a number; but we may eafily fuppofe that from their firf rife to their final overthrow, they may produce fuch a number of fighting men in all. And altho' they cannot all be on earth at once, but in fucceffion, yet St. John could hear their numbers at once, as they were known to him who gave the Revelation to that beloved Apoftle.

It is likely that this was nearly their combined fum in round numbers, as St . John particularly fays, And I beard the number of them. Or it may be ufed to exprefs their immenfe and innumerable mul= titudes, without being defigned to fet forth their exact number. The Othman Emperors have often brought very large armies into the field. When Mahomet the Second befieged Conftantinople, he had about four hundred thoufand men in his army, befides a powerful fleet of thirty large, and two hundred fmaller fhips. And often, in their wars with the Chriftian powers, they have brought prodigious holts into the field, chiefly of horlemen. The Timariots, or horfemen holding lands by ferving in the wars, are even at prefent the ftrength of the government; and fome fay thefe are about a million of fighting men. And befides thefe there are Spahi's, and other horfemen in the Emperor's pay.

Ver. 17. "And thus I faw the horfes in the vifion, "a and them that fat on them, having breaft-plates "of fire, and of jacinct, and brimftone : and the " heads of the horfes were as the heads of lions; " and out of their mouths iffued fire, and fmoke, and " brimftone."

In the vifion, the riders upon thefe horfes, appeared to have breaft-plates of fire and jacinct, and brimftone. The colour of fire is red, of jacinez or hyacinth blue, and of brimftone yellow : and this as Mr. Daubuz obferves, " hath a literal accomplifh" ment; for the Othmans, from the firft time of "their appearance, have affected to wear fuch war" like apparel of fcarlet, blue, and yellow." Of the Spahi's, particularly, fome have red, and fome have yellow ftandards, and others red or yellow, mixed with other colours.

The appearance of the beads of the borfes were as the beads of lions, to denote their ftrength, courage and fiercenefs; and it appeared to the apoftle in the vifion as though fire and fmoke, and brimfione ifued out of their moutbs. A manifeft allufion to gunpowder and great guns; which were invented under the Sixth Trumpet, and were of fingular fervice to the Othmans in their wars. St. John had never feen gun powder, nor artillery, but he almoft defribes the compofition of gun-powder, fire, fmoke, and brimfone; and the appearance of the difcharge of fire-arms from men on horfeback ; which at a diffance feems like fire, and fmoke and brimItone, coming out of the horfes mouths.

Verfe 18: "By thefe three was the third part of " men killed; by the fire, and by the fmoke, and "by the brimftone, which iffued out of their " mouths."

By the ufe of gunpowder and great guns, the Othmans made great havoc and deftruction in the Eaftern empire. Amurath the Second broke into Peloponnefus, and took feveral ftrong places by the means of his artillery. But his fon Mahomet employed fuch great guns as had never been ufed before. One is defcribed to be of fuch a monftrous fize, that ic was drawn by feventy yoke of oxen, and by two thoufand men. There were two more, each of which difcharged a fone, of the weight of two talents. Others emitted a ftone of the weight of half a talent: But the greateft of all difcharged a ball of the weight of three talents, or about three hundred pounds; and the report of this cannon is faid to have been fo great, that all the country round about was fhaken to the diftance of forty farlongs. For forty days the wall was battered by thefe guns, and fo many breaches were made, that the city was taken by affault, and an end put to the Grecian or Eaftern empire.

Now is it not wonderful that St. John fhould have beheld in vifion this new way of deftroying men, and taking cities, by the force of gunpowder, fo different from all the methods that had ever been ufed in his time, or for many ages afterwards, even until the Turkifh empire arofe? But the fame kind of inftruments of deftruction are now ufed by almoft all nations.
Verfe ig. "For their power is in their mouth, " and in their tails; for their tails were like unto E ${ }^{6}$ fer

(. 28 )

"ferpents, and had heads, and with them they do "hurt."

The Turkifh army of horfemen, carried deftruction before and behind ; the difcharge of their are tillery might appear to St. John as coming from the tails of their horfes, as well as fire and fmoke and brimftone from their mouths. But I rather think, with Bifhop Newton, that their tails being like untd ferpents, and having beids with which they do burt, intend their likenefs to the Saracens, only the different tails are accommodated to the different creatures, the tails of forpions to locufls; the tails of ferpents with beads, to borrfes.-"By this figure " it is meant, that the Turks draw after them "the fame poifonous train as the Saracens; they ${ }^{\text {"c }}$ profefs and propagate the fame impofture; they " do hurt, not only with their conquefts, but alfo " by fpreading their falfe doctrine; and wherever ${ }^{6}$ they eftablifh their dominion, there too they efta" blifh their religion. Many indeed of the Greek "Church remained, and are ftill remaining among "them: but they are made to pay dearly for the " exertife of their religion ; are fubjected to a ca-"pitation-tax, which is rigoroufly exacted from " all above fourteen years of age; are burdened be". fides, with the mof heavy and arbitrary impofi' 6 tions upon every occafion; are compelled to the ' loweft and moft fervile drudgery ; are abufed in "their perfons, and robbed of their property; have " not only the mortification of feeing fome of their " friends and kindred daily apoftatize to the ruling "religion, but have even their children taken from "them to be educated therein, of whom the more ${ }^{6}$ ' robuft and hardy are trained up to the foldiery, the " more weakly and tender are made eunuchs for the "feraglio. But notwithftanding thefe perfecutions and es oppreffions, fome remains of the Greek Church are "fill preferved among them, as we may reafonably "conclude, to ferve fome great and mylterious ends " of Providence."

( 29 )

I truft it has been made apparent that the Saracens were the firf woe, under the Fifth Trumpet, and the Turks the fecond woe, under the Sixth Trumpet; which Trumpet has juft now finifhed founding ; and the fecond woe is paft, as I hall endeavour to prove.

Verfe 20, 21. "And the reft of the men which "s were not killed by thefe plagues, yet repented " not of the works of their hands, that they fhould " not worfhip devils, and idols of gold, and filver, " and brafs, and ftone, and of wood: which nei${ }^{6} 6$ ther can fee, nor hear, nor walk : Neither re"pented they of their murders, nor of their force" ries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts." It'was a dreadful judgment, which befel the Eaftern Churches for their idolatries in worhipping faints, that the Saracens were permitted to chaftife and torment them; but this plague working no reformation in them, they were again chaftifed by the fill greater plague of the Othmans; were party overthrown by the former, and were entirely ruined by the latter. But though the Eaftern churches were ruined and deftroyed by thefe plagues, yet the Weftern churches, who pretty well efcaped thefe calamities, were not at all reclaimed, but ftill perfifted in the worfhip of faints, or demons $2_{2}$ the fouls of dead men, and what is worfe, the worfhip of images, zwbich neitber can fee, nor bear, nor walk; and the world is witnefs to the completion of this prophecy to this day. Neitber repented tbey of ibeir murders, their perfecutions and inquifitions; norof ibeir forceries, their pretended miracles and revelations; nor of their fornication, their public flews and abominable uncleannefs, for which they are noted; nor of their thefts, their exactions and impofitions upon mankind : and they are as notorious for their licertioulnefs and wickednefs, as for their fupertition and idolatry. They have refufed to take warning by the two former woes, and therefore the third woe will fall upon them with all its force, and which is now immediately to commence. For,

It cannot be expected that I fhould take notice of all the events that have fallen under the found of the Sixtl Trumpet: but I have noticed what events took place at the beginning, and muft now, agreeable to my defign, notice an event, which plainly fhews that fcene to be at an end; the fecond woe to be pait ; and the Sixth Trumpet to have done founding. But before I come to fpeak directly to this, 1 thall notice a verfe or two in the tenth chapter of this prophecy, in the oath of the angel, who fet his right foot upon the fea, and his left on the earth, and lified up his hand to heaven, "And "fivare by him that liveth for ever and ever, who "created heaven, and the things that therein are, "s and the earth, and the things that therein are, " and the fea, and the things which are therein, that "there finould be time no longer." (or that the time thall not be yet, or that the glorious flate' of the church, which God hath promifed, fhall not take place under the found of the fixth trumpet.) "But " in the days of the voice of the feventh angel, when " he fhall begin to found, (there flall no longer be any delay of time, but) " the myftery of God fhould

"s be finifined, as he hath declared to his fervants the "prophets." Rev. x. 6, 7.

Thefe words have been ftrangely mifunderfood by fome, as though the angel fwore that there fhould be an immediate end of time, and that it referred to the laft judgment, and deftruction of the world. But this is evidently contrary to common fenfe; the plain meaning, according to feveral judicious interpreters, is what I have mentioned above. Mr. Lowman thus paraphrafes on the words, " But though I was not allowed to reveal what the "f feven thunders had uttered, yet the angel pro"ceeded to give a farther revelation of the provi"dence of God, towards the world and his church "in general; and to confirm the truth and cer"tainty of his revelation, he took his oath in the " moft folemn manner; for lifting up his hand to " heaven, he fiware by the eternal God, the Crea"tor of all things, that the time of the glorious "ftate of the Church, though fure to be accom" plifhed, according to God's promife, in its due "time, fhould nor be as yet. But in the next pe"riod, or in the days of the voice of the feventh "angel, who was yet to found, the myftery of "God, in his providence towards the Church, "Ghould be perfected; and then, as he had pro"mifed in the prophetic Oracles, the glorious "f ftate of the Church hould be no longer deferred."

And to the fame purpofe feeaks Bifhop Newton: "Then the angel lifted up bis band to beaven, like "the angel in Daniel, xii. 7. and fware ly bim that "s liveth for ever and ever, the great Creator of all "things, (in the original) that the time foall not be "y yet; but it thall be in the days of the Seventh "Trumper, that the myflery of Gol flall be finibed ' and the glorious ftate of his Church be perfected, $\stackrel{\boxed{6}}{\leftarrow}$ agrée-

"c agreeably to the good things which he hath pro${ }^{\text {"c }}$ mifed to bis fervants the prophets. This is faid for "the confolation of Chriftians, that though the lit"t tle book defcribes the calamities of the weftern "church, yet they fhall all have a happy period "6 under the Seventh Trumpet."
I have nothing to add to the above explanations of thofe 6 th and 7 th verfes: their meaning is plain and rational, fo that he that runs may read.

The Sixth Trumpet has founded long, from about the year 1281, to the prefent year 1793. But 1 am to flew, that it is now finifhed; and that the fecond woe is paft.

There is an event mentioned in the verfe immediately before my text, that points out the conclufron of the fecond woe, in as plain and direct a manner as poffible; and fuch an event having taken place before our eyes, it is eafy to fee that the prophecy is now fulfilled.

Rev. xi. 13. "And the fame hour was there a "great earthquake, and the tenth part of the "city fell, and in the earthquake were flain of men " (as our tranlators render the words, but the ori"ginal words are literally, names of men) feven "thoufand : and the remnant were affrighted, and ${ }^{6 \epsilon}$ gave glory to the God of heaven."
By the great earthquake, we are to underftand 2 great political fhaking of fome nation, whereby the government thall be overthrown and broken in pieces, as really as any part of the earth was ever broken and deftroyed by a natural earthquake; and not only fo, but this earthquake is to happen in one of the ten kingdoms, conftituting the great hierarchy of Ronne, which is often in this book ftiled by way of eminence, the great cily ; : and this earthquake is to be fo violent, and to continue fo long, that the tenth part of the city is to fall; that is, the kingdom where this earthquake is to happen, will not only be broken in pieces iffelf, but will entirely: fall off from Rome, and will no longer fupport the papal government. And in this earthquake, which will be a fudden and furprizing Revolution, different from all others, there will be glain of names of men feven thoufand; or, the whole number of the titles; or names of diftinction will be deftroyed; and all this will take place in a moft fudden and unexpected manner.

Now look at the Revolution, and overturning of the government in France, and fee if this prophecy, is not exactly fulfilled, and therein a full proof given that the Jecond rwoe is pafi, beyond all difpute; and this epoch is therefore interefting to all Chriftians) in the higheft degree.
France is certainly a tenth part of the city or hierarchy of Rome, it is one of the ten horns of the beaft, one of the ten kingdoms that gave its power and authority to the beaft, which it has done in $\mathrm{t}_{5}$ moft remarkable manner, from the days of Pepin, and his fon Charlemagne, or Charles the Great; until the late Revolution. Thefe kings of France, were the very perfons who firt made the Pope of: Rome a temporal prince, by conquering Italy, fubjecting the fame to the Bifhop of Rome, and laying the keys at his feet. And France has allalong: been a fteady and conftant fupporter of the papalreligion, power and dignity; but it is now fallen, from that connexion, to rife no more.

But it may be faid, that England iffelf might as well be called a tench part of the City as France, and; the fame may be faid of Ireland, Scoiland, Sveden, Denmark; for all thefe were horns of the papal beaft, and all have fallen off from their attachment to Rome; how then is it to be known that the Revo-

( 34 )

Iation in France is particularly intended in this pafrage?

1 anfiwer, If the Spirit of Truth had not given fuch marks as diftinguifh the falling of France from the falling of all thofe other powers, then we fhould have been fill at a lofs. But it is to be obferved, that in the earthquake or total Revolution that hath taken place in France, that there has been an entire flaughter of the names of anen, that is of all titles of every kind. This is an event, however trifling in, itfelf, that marks this period with the utmoft precifion and exactnefs. This has never taken, place in any one of the kinggoms before that has fallen off from its connection with Rome; and confequently proves the Revolution in France to be intended. And thus this event was predicted by the Spirit of prophecy, not for the importance of it confidered in itfelf, but to mark it out precifely as the conclufion of the fecond woe, or the end of the founding of the fixth Trumpet. And fo this otherwife trifing occurrence, ferves as a mark to the mariner, to let him know where he is, and what courfe to fteer; and as feamen narrowly obferve a rioted certain fea mark, not for the intrinfic worth and beauty of the object, but for an inconceivably higher purpofe, to know where they are, and how to fteer; fo we may obferve this event, as a certain mark or fign of the clofe of the fixth angel founding his Trumpet; and fo it becomes of the greateft confequence in this point of light.

Before this event took place, it was difficult to tell what was meant by names of men, which is the Greek expreffion ; our tranflators could not fee why fuch a phrafe was ufed, and therefore rendered it fimply men, neverthelefs the true rendering is preferved in the marginal reading, where it is names of men. But now the event having taken place, it is ealy to fee the exact correfpondence between the prediction and its accomplifhment.

It is a very kemarkable circumftance, that Peter Furieu, a famous French divine of Rotterdam, more than an hundred years ago, not only predicted the Revolution which has taken place, but underfood the flaughter of the names of men, as a deftruction, not of the perfons of men, but of their names; or titles of diftinction, and of the feveral religious orders, which he faid would be abolifhed and deftroyed, no more to be revived in France. And what is more extraordinary ftill, he predicted the time, when it would happen, allowing himfelf a latitude of ten years, from 1780 to 1790 . This teftimony of that worthy and venerable man, is almort fufficient of itfelf, to prove that what has lately taken place in France, precifely marks the conclufion of the fecond woe trumpet. But the matter is now fo plain, as to be evident to every difcerning eye.

There was alfo a religious difcourfe oy Mr. Robert Fleming, printed in London in the firf year of this century, 1701, in which are thefe words, Page 68. "So that there is good ground to hope, that about " the beginning of another fuch century, things may " again alter for the better; for I cannot but hope, "that fome new murtification of the chief fupporters " of Antichrift will then happen-And perhaps the "French Monarchy may begin to be confiderably " humbled about that time; that whereas the pre"fent French King, takes the fun for his emblem, " and this for his motto, Nec pluribus impar: He may "s at length, or rather his fucceffors, and the mo" narchy itfelf, at lealt before the year 1794, be "forced to acknowledge, that in refpect to neigh" bouring Potentates, he is Jingulas impar. But as
"s to the expiration of this (fourth) vial, I do featr, " it will not be till the year 1794." Here he gives his reafons.

Page ${ }^{7} 4$. " I muft tell you, I have nothing fur"t ther to add to what I have faid, as to time, but " as to the manner how this is to be done, our text " lays a foundation of fome more diftinct thoughts. ${ }^{\text {© }}$ T Therefore in the fourth and laft place, we may " juftly fuppofe, that the French Monarchy, after it " has fcorched others, will itfelf confume by doing " fo ; its fire, and that which is the fuel that main"tains it, wafting infenfibly, till it be exhaufted at " laft, towards the end of this century:"

This is alfo a very extraordinary prediction, coming fo very near the time of the deftruction of the French Monarchy ; though I cannot tgree with him, that it is done by the pouring out of the fourth vial; (none of which I apprehend to be yet poured out) but by the great political Earthquake, which has fhaken that kingdom in pieces, and caufed it to fall away from its connection with Rome; by which a tenth part of the City, or hierarchy of myitical Babylon is funk down and deftroyed, and the remainder will foon thare the fame fate, by the pouring out of the vials; which awful difpenfations will take place under the found of the Seventh Trumpet, which from this very time begins to found : and the Third woe will immediately commence.

It was faid, at the clofe of the firft woe, "One "s woe is paft, and behold there come two woes more ${ }^{66}$ hereafter." Chiap. ix. i2.

This fuggefted, that fome time would intervene between the firft woe of the Arabian locults, and the next of the Euphratean horfemen. But when the fecond woe is paft, it is faid, Bebold, the third sue cometb quictly. There will be no intervening. time time between the fccond and third woes; but upon the ceafing of the fecond, the third (which will bring the utter deftruction of the prophetic beaft) thall inftantly begin.

(37)

Though this fubject is fo very plain, and though I have underftood a long time, that this prophecy of the great earthquake, the fall of the tenth part of the City, and the flaying of the names of men, referred to what has happened in France; yet it never struck me that the fecond woe was actually paft, till about three days ago, hearing the latter part of this eleventh chapter of the Revelations read, I was furprized to find immediately after the account of the earthquake, and what was brought about thereby, this folemn declaration made:-THE SECOND wOE is past; and Behold the third woe cometfe euickly. And then the Seventh Angel is immediately introduced as founding his trumpet; which is the moft awful and important of all, and under which the third and great woe fhall take place. A new and furprizing ficene opened to my mind: I faw very plainly that the Sixth Trumpet was finifhed, and the Seventh beginning to found; that the fecond woe was part, and the third coming immediately; and I could not help being furprized that I had not obferved it before, as the connection is fo plain.

I regard the late events in France, therefore, as Signs of the Times, and they mark the clofe of the preceding period with great exactnefs; and in this light their confequence is very great: they hew us whereabouss we are, and tend to confirm the authority of the Scriptures, and efpecially the book of the Revelation of St. John.

A new and very important period is now beginF 2
ning to take place, under the found of the Seventh Trumper, which will continue to found from this time, 'till after the perfonal appearance of' Jesus, 'till all the feven vials of the wrath of God are poured out, and until the kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of bis Cbrift.

But great will be the woes and defolations that will come upon the world before this happy event will take place. And for this reafon, the feventh trumpet is properly denominated a zooe trumpet, for the woes that will take place while it is founding, will be great beyond example, and terrible beyond defcription.

Let us all flee for refuge to lay hold on the hope. fet before us, and pray, with the Pfalmint, (Pfalm lvii. 1.) "Be merciful unto me, O God, be mer"ciful unto me: for my foul trufteth in thee; yea, " in the fhadow of thy wings will I make my refuge, "t until thefe calamities be overpaft."

The divine admonition to us feems at prefent to be as it is expreffed in Ifaiah xxvi. 20, 21. "Come, my " people, enter thou into thy chambers, and mut "thy doors about thee: hide thyfelf, as it were, for "a little moment, until the indignation be overpaft. "For behold, गehovah cometh forth out of his "place, to punifh the inhabitants of the earth for "their iniquity: The earth alfo fhall difclofe her " blood, and thall no more cover her flain."

The fame great deftruction is alfo fpoken of by moft of the Prophets, and the advice given by $\mathrm{Ze}-$ phaniah is now much in feafon: "Gather your"felves together, O nation not defired: Before the "decree bring forth, before the day pafs as the "chaff, before the fierce anger of the Lord come "upon you, before the day of Jehovah's anger " come upon you."

( 39 )

"Seek ye the Lord, all ye meek of the earth; " which have wrought his judgment ; feek righte"oufnefs, feek meeknefs : It may be, ye fhall be " hid in the day of Jehovah's anger."
"Therefore wait ye upon me, faith Jehovah, " until the day that I rife up to the prey: for my "determination is to gather the nations, that I may "affemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine " indignation, even all my fierce anger; for all the " earth fhall be devoured with the fire of my jealou"fy. For then will I turn to the people a pure " language, (or lip) that they may all call upon the " name of Jehovah, to ferve him with one confent "(or fhoulder)." Zeph. ii. 1, 2, 3. Chap. iii. 8, 9. So that it is evident that very dreadful fcenes will firft take place, and then moft glorious difpenfations will fucceed.

May the Lord prepare us for what is coming, and hide us from the evil, under the fhadow of his wings, for his name's fake. Amen.

AND THE SEVENTH ANGEL SOUNDED; AND THERE WERE GREAT VOICES IN HEAVEN, SAYING, THE KINGDOMS OF THIS WORLD ARE BECOME THE KINGDOMS OF OUR LORD, AND OF HIS CHRIST; AND HE SHALL REIGN FOR EVER AND EVER (OR TO THE AGES OF AGES). AND THE FOUR AND TWENTY ELDERS, WHO SAT BEFORE GOD ON THEIR SEATS, FECL UPON THEIR FACES AND WORSHIPPEDGOD, SAYING, WE GIVETHEE THANKS, O LORD GOD ALMIGHIY, WHO ART, AND WAST, AND ART TO COME; BECAUSETHOU HAST TAEEN TO THEE THY GREAT POWER, AND HAST REIGNED. AND THENATIONS WERE, ANGRY, AND THY WRATH IS COME, AND THE TIME OF THE DEAD, THAT THEY SHOULD BE JUDGED, AND THAT THOU SHOULDEST GIVE REWARD UNTO THY SERVANTS THE PROPHETS, AND TO THESAINTS, AND THEM THAT FEAR THY NAME, SMALL AND GREAT; AND SHOULDEST DESTROY THEM WHO DESTROY THE EARTH.

IN the fermon which I had the honour to deliver in this place three weeks ago, I truft it was made apparent that the fecond woe was paf, the founding of of the fixth trumpet at an end, and the feventh beginning to found, and the third woe coming quickly. That difcourfe treated almoft entirely of things that are paft; but this will be wholly filled with things that are to come.

I hall therefore directly proceed to fet before you in their order, as plainly and as briefly as I can, the feveral events that will take place under the feventh trumpet, which is now beginning to found.

The feven vials of the wrath of God, or the feven laft plagues, are all of them to be poured out under this trumpet, none of them being yet fulfilled. Bilhop Newton fays, " Thefe feven laft plagues "muft neceffarily fall under the feventh and laft " trumpet, or the third and laft woe trumpet; fo "6 that as the feventh feal contained the feven trum"pets, the feventh trumpet compreherids the feven of vials. Not only the concinnity of the prophecy " requires this order; for otherwife there would be " great confufion, and the vials would interfere with "the trumpets, fome falling under one trumper, "f and fome under another: but, moreover, if thefe "feven laft plagues, and the confequent deftruction " 6 of Babylon be not the fubject of the third woe, "s the third woe is no where defcribed particularly, " as are the two former woes. When four of the " feven trumpets had founded, it was declared, " (Chap. viii. 13.) Woe, woe, zooe to the inbabiters of "the earith, by reafon of the other voices of the trumpets "s of the three angels wobich are yet to found. Accord"ingly, at the founding of the fifib trumpet (Chap. " ix. 1.) commences the woe of the Saracen or "Arabian locults; and in the conclufion is added, "(ver. 12.) One zoe is paft, and bichold there come two "woos more bereafter. At the founding of the fixtb "trumpet (Chap. ix. 13.) begins the plague of the "Euphra-

( 43 )

"Euphratean horfemen, or Turks; and in the conclu. "fron is added, (Chap. xi. 14.) The feiond woe is paft, "s and bebold the third woe cometh quickly. At the "founding of the feventh trumpet, therefore, one
's would naturally expect the defcription of the third
" wose to fucceed; but there follows only a fhort and
"s fummary account of the feventh trumpet, and of "s the joyful rather than of the woeful part of it. A " general intimation indeed is given of God's taking " unto binn bis great purver, and deftroying them rebo def's troy the earth; but the particulars are referved for "this place; (Cliap. xvi. &c.) and if thefe laft "s plagues coincide not with the laft woe, there are " other plagues and other woes after the latt; and " how can it be faid, that the wraib of God is filled up " in them, if there are others befides them? If then "s thefe feven laft plagues fynchronize with the fe" venth and laft trumpet, they are all yet to come."

The account of the pouring out of the vials, contains in brief the awful judgments that thall come upon the enemies of our Lord, under the found of this feventh trumpet, and efpecially upon the Church of Rome, and her adherents; and therefore I thall read the prophecy of the pouring out of thofe vials, and make fome brief remarks as I pafs along. But before I fpeak particularly of the pouring out of the vials I would juft call your attention to one expreffion in the words that I firft read, and which. being fo plainly and remarkably fulfilled in our view, is fully fufficient to prove, that the feventh trumpet hath already begun to found; and that is, And the nations reere angry: this is a fign of the times indeed, for was it ever feen before, that fuch great and general preparations for war were made in Europe, as are making now! And as for the anger, wrath, and rage that are evident in all the European nations G which are now prepared and preparing for battle, the like has never been feen or heard of before. There feems fuch terrible anger on all fides, as though the worath of God was come, and that the nations were gathering to pour out the vials of wrath upon each other. Even in this nation, where we may reafonably expect the moft coolnefs, and calmi deliberation, it has been faid, that we ought to enter into the war, without confidering in the leaft what effect it might have upon our commerce, trade or wealth, and that if the nation fhould be reduced, not only to the laft guinea, but even to the laft fhilling, that ought to be no object at all. Yea more, fome go fo far as to pray, that an earthquake, or a volcano, or fome other dreadful convulfion of nature fhould fwallow up or bury thefe Illands in the deep, with all their numerous inhabitants, multitudes of beafts, and immenfe riches, rather than that even a change of politics fhould take place here. With much more to the fame purpofe, which is fufficient to prove, that even this cool and ferious nation is very angry. What then is the ftate of the other nations of Europe, whofe paffions are naturally more irafcible and vindictive? their rage is indefcribeable; as their fpeeches, threatenings, writings and manifeftoes evidence, and above all their vigorous preparations for war, and their determination to conquer or die. I do not fo much as enter into the matter in a political view, I mean to. foar as far above that iphere as the heavens are above the earth, and only fpeak of thefe things as wonderful illuftrations and fulfilments of prophecy.

The nations are now gathering on all fides, like black clouds, charged with wind, hail, rain, thunder and fire, ready to difcharge their baleful contents upon the aftonifhed world; and foon fuch fcenes will be opened to view, as fhall terrify the fenfes of all who fhall fee and hear.

I fhall now pafs directly to the pouring out of the feven vials of God's wrath upon the earth. Rev. xvi. I. "And I heard a great voice out of the tem"ple, faying, to the feven angels, Go your ways, "c and pour out the wrath of Gad upon the earth." On this verfe Bifhop Newton fays, "In obedience "to the divine command, the feven angels come "forth to pour out the vials of the worath of God upon "the earth; and as the trumpets were fo many fteps "' and degrees of the ruin of the Roman empire, fo "the vials are of the Roman Church. The one in " polity and government is the image of the other; "the one is compared to the fyftem of the world; "and hath her eartb and fea, and rivers, and funz " 6 as well as the other: and this is the reafon of the "fimilitude and refemblance of the judgments in " both cafes. Some refemblance too there is be" $t$ ween thefe plagues and thofe of Egypt. Rome "papal is diftinguifhed by the title of /piritual Egypt, " (Chap. xi. 8.) and refembles Egypt in her punifh" ments as well as in her crimes, tyranny, idolatry, " and wickednefs."

Verfe 2. "And the firft went and poured out his !s vial upon the earth; and there fell a noifome and " grievous fore upon the men who had the mark of "the beaft, and upon them who worfhipped his " image."

This firt vial is poured out upon the earth; and fo. the hail and fire of the firt trumpet weve caft upon the carth, (fee Chap. viii. 7.) whereby great deftructions came upon the Roman empire: 1 apprehend that this firft vial betokens great judgments to fall upon fome inland part of the continent of Europe, and efpecially upon that part of it that has been moft G 2 noted for fupporting the papal tyranny and fupertis tion; and it ftrikes me that this firft vial will fall and fpend itfelf upon France the Netberlands, and Germamy, that vaft inland country, the inhabitants of which have bad the mark of the beaft and have workhipped bis image, for ages paft. Thefe powers are now affembling to dellroy each other, or, in the language of prophecy, to pour out the contents of this vial of God's zeralb upon the earth. The great trouble, pain and forrow now ready to fall upon that part of the globe, will be as terrible to the body politic, as the moft noofoiile and griérous fore would be to the natural body of a mani, or as the fixth plague of Egypt, to which reference feems to be had, which was a boil lecakitg forth rwilb blains, (Exod. ix. 10.) was to the inhabitants of that unhappy country.

This plague is to be particularly infiited upon the then rebo bad the mark of the beafe, and upon then who zorrljipped bis image; which is to be underftood of the others alfo where it is not expreffed. Thefe wars will finally iffue in the ruin of the papal power and aurhority in thofe countries, and this will greatly grieve and vex the adherents of Antichrift, and will be indeed a very noifome and griezous fore to them, which will pain them beyond expreffion.

Verfe 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. "And the fecond angel "poured out his vial upon the fea: and it became "as the blood of a dead man; and every living foul "died in the fea. And the third angel poured out " his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters; " and they became blood. And I heard the angel " of the waters fay, Thou art righteous O Lord, ${ }^{8 \prime}$ who art, and waft, and fhalt be, becaufe thou haft or judged thus: for they have fhed the blood of " fainis and prophets, and thou haft given them "6 blood to drink; for they are wortby. And. I " heard

" heard another under the altar fay, Even fo, Lord "God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judg. "' ments."

The fecond vial is poured out upon the fea, and the fea becomes as the blood of a dead man, or as congealed blood: and in like manner under the fecond trumpet, a burning mountain was caft into the fea, and the third part of the Sea became blood, \&c. (Chap. viii. 8, $\& \mathrm{cc}$.) The third vial is poured out upon the rivers and fountains of water, and they became blood: and in the fame manner, under the third trumpet, the burning ftar fell upout the rivers and fountains of water: (Chap. viii. 10.) There is a clofe connection between thefe two vials; and the confequences are fimilar to the firt plague of Egypt, when the waters of Egypt, and their freams, and their rivers, and their ponds, and all their pools of water became blood. Exod. vii. 19.

Waters in the prophetical ftile of this book, fignify as explained (Chap. xvii. 15.) Peoples and mullitudes, and nations, and tongues; feas and rivers of blood manifeftly denote great flaughter and devaflation; which will fall upon the nations which have been guilty of committing fornication with the Church of Rome, and have fhed the blood of the faints like water, and have been drunken as it were therewith; there countries fhall be made to drink blood in abundance, as a retaliation of the vaft quantities of innocent and righteous blood which they have fhed. I think by the fea, rivers and fountains of zeaters, may be mpre particularly intended the maritime countries which are connected with Rome, and which have been guilty of idolatry, tyranny, cruelty, and efpecially perfecution: and in this light it ftrikes me that Spain, Portugal, and the inlands and maritime parts of Italy, will drink very deep of thefe vials of wrath, which will fall heavy upon thofe places, and upon all who have fhed the blood of the martyrs under the popifh influence. For God hath long ago judged the Pagan Empire of Rome, for the valt quantity of Chriftian blood which it fhed, and for which it was broken to pieces, overturned and deftroyed: this took place under the four firft trumpets; but now under the vials God will punifh the Papal Empire more feverely than he did the Pagan, and it fhall fall and rife no more, as its tyranny and blood-thirftinefs have more than equalled what were found in the empire while it was ftill heathen. I fhould be forry to be the meffenger of heavy tidings to this land ; but thefe inlands were once under the Papal authority, and fhed a confiderable quantity of innocent and righteous blood, which cries aloud for vengeance, and makes me fear that even thefe lands may drink in fome meafure of thefe vials. God grant that the early renunciation of Rome, and the reformation that hath fince taken place, with the piety, benevolence, and many virtues of this nation, may prevent the execution of the wrath which is threatened upon perfecutors, and upon their children, who approve of their deeds ! I hope that none in thefe countries approve of thofe wicked deeds of their forefathers. It was a prevailing opinion in the eaf, that a particular angel prefided over the waters, as others did over other elements and parts of nature; and mention is made (Chap. xiv. 18.) of the angel robo had pozver over. fire. This angel of the waters celebrates the righteous judgments of God, in adapting and proportioning the punifhments of the followers and workippers of the beaft to their crimes; for no law can be more juft and equitable than that they who have been guilty of Joedding the blood of the fainls and prophets, fhould be. punifhed in the effufion of their own blood.

( 49 )

When the firth feal was opened, St. John fays, ${ }^{\text {IS }}$ I faw under the altar the fouls of them that were "Alain for the word of God, and for the teftimony "s which they held. And they cried with a loud " voice, faying, How long, OLord, holy and true, "doft thou not judge and avenge our blood on "them that dwell on the earth?" (Chap. vi. 9, 10.) So we find here, that when the vials are poured out upon the perfecuting nations and peoples, an angel out of the allar, as the reprefentative of all that have been facrificed by the papal perfecutions, declares his affent in the moft folemn manner, Even fo, Lord God Alnighty, true and rigbteous are thy judgments. They who have read and impartially confidered the authentic accounts of the oceans of blood that have been thed by thofe nations that have been attached to the religion of Rome, will not be furprifed to fee very great defolations come fuddenly upon them: and as for the inhabitents of heaven, many of whom have fuffered death by that blafpheming and perfecuting power, they are called to rejoice aloud at its deftruction. See Chap. xviii. 20. xix. $1,2,3, \& c$ and all mult confefs, that however dreadful thefe difpenfations of deftruction appear to us, God is juft and true in all his judgments.

Ver. 8, 9 , "And the fourth angel poured out "his vial upon the fun : and power was given unto " him to fcorch men with fire. And men were "fcorched with great heat, and blafphemed the "f name of God, who hath power over' thefe plagues: "a and they repented not to give him glory."

As the fourth trumpet affected the fun of the Roman weftern empire, (Chap. viii. 12.) and caufed a total change at Rome, by deftroying the very name of Emperor; fo I apprehend that the fourth vial will be poured out upan the Pope himfelf, who is the fun of the papal empire, as the Roman emperor was of the empire of ancient Rome, and as Chrift our Lord is the fun of rigbteounnefs, the fun of his people; from whom their light, love, graces and fruiffulnefs proceed; he gives forth laws, and claims obedience. So does the Pope of Rome; and the people have long obeyed him, and confidered him as the head and director of that kingdom; but the fourth vial fhall be poured out upon him, and he will no longer reign, his power and his very name fhall be deftroyed. Neverthelefs many of his former adherents will be fo far from being converted to God by this evident token of his difpleafure againft that cruel and perfecuting religion, that they will be full of rage and malice when they fee their fun deftroyed. They will be inwardly tormented, and fhall grievounly complain; they fhall, like the rebellious Jews, (If. viii. 21.) " fret themfelves, and curfe their king, " and their God, and look upward." Look upward not to pray, but to blafpheme; they fhall not have the fenfe or courage to repent, and forfake their idolatry and wickednefs. But, on the contrary, they fhall continue in rebellion, and blafpheme God, as though he had forlaken the true Church, and fuffered his promife to fail: for having this idea in their minds, that the Church of Rome is the only true Church, and the Pope its infallible head, when they fee that he is fallen, and deftroyed, they will be apt blafphemoully to conclude that Chrift has failed to perform his promife, and that the gates of hell have prevailed againft his Church. 'Bur why fhould the Church of Rome imagine herfelf fecure? Where is the Church of Jerufalem, of Antioch, of Alexandria, of Conftantinople, of Ephefus, &c. ? Have they not gone to decay; and mof of them ceafed to exift? But the Chriftian religion, and the Chriftian Church, and the witneffes of Jefus have been found in every age.

( 50 )

Ver. 10, i1." And the fifih angel poured out his "vial upon the feat of the beaft; and his kingdom "was full of darknefs, and they gnawed their tongues "for pain; and blafphemed the God of Heaven " becaufe of their pains and their fores, and repent" ed not of their deeds."

The fifth vial is to be poured out upon the feat or throne of the beaft, and bis king dom becomes full of darknefs, as Egypt did under her nịnth plague (Exod. x. 21.) "This," (fays Bifhop Newton,) " is fome great calamity which fhall fall upon Rome, " and thall darken and confound the whole anti"chriftian empire. But fill the confequences of "this plague are much the fame as thofe of the "foregoing one: for the fufferers, inftead of repent"ing of their deeds, aie hardened like Pharaoh, and "ftill perfitt in their blafphemy and idolatry, and "obftinately withiftand all attempts of reformation."

At the pouring out of the fifth vial I apprehend the city of Rome will be taken and facked, and its deftruction will then commence, which will be matter of great aftonifhment to the Romanifts, to fee not only the Pope fall, but the city of Rome itfelf taken, that city which they imagine to be as much God's peculiar poffeffion, as ever the Jews believed Jerufalem to be fo: and this event fhall caufe them to be filled with great aftonifhment, and fhall make them gnaw their tongues for pain, and blafpheme the God of Heaven, as was obferved before.

But though the deftruction of Rome may begin by war, it fhall be completed by fire, but whether fire from Heaven, as was upon Sodom and Gomorrah, or by a volcano breaking out in the city, I cannot fay, but I conclude the latter. The adjacent countries are known to be of a fulphureous and bituminous foil; and there have been even at Rome eruptions of fubterraneous fires, which have confumed feveral buildings; fo that the fuel feemeth to be prepared, and waiteth only for the breath of the Lord to kiadle it. And as fure as the word of divine revelation is true, fo fure that famous city fhall be utterly burnt with fire, and rendered for ever uninhabited and uninhabitable. For amongft a great variety of expreffions which the Lord makes ufe of to declare the total and utter deftruction of the city on feven mountains, which in the Apoftles time, ruled over the kings of the earth, which all, even Romanifts themfelves, confefs to be Rome, there are things mentioned which thall no more be found in her after her final overthrow, which are alone fufficient to prove that the city fhall remain for ever defolate. "The voice of harpers, and mu"ficians, and of pipers, and trumpeters," (for which Rome is now, and has been fo long famous) "f fhall be heard no more at all in thee."

( $5^{2}$ )

2. "And no craftsman, of whatever craft he be, "thall be found any more in thee." So that there fhall be no artificers, mechanicks, merchánts, manufacturers, traders, or labourers there any more.
3. " And the found of a millitone fhall be heard " no more at all in thee." There fhall be no food prepared there, not even bread, the ftaff of life, and confequently there can be no inhabitants.
4. "And the light of a candle flall fhine no " more at all in thee." How famous Rome is at prefent, for a vaft profufion of lamps and candles? burning them both day and night in their churches, but the time fhall certainly come when not one fingle candle fhall be lighted there, and therefore cere tainly not one fingle perfon fhall lodge there.

( 53 )

5. "And the voice of the bridegroom and the " bride thall be heard no more at all in thee."

There fhall be no muficians for the entertainment of the rich and great; no more tradefinen nor artificers to furnifh the conveniences of life, no more fervants or labourers to grind at the mill, and fupply the neceffaries of life; nay, there fhall be no more lights, no more bridal fongs; the city fhall never be again peopled by new marriages, but fhall remain defolate for ever. Her fmoke fhall rife up (eis tous aionas ton aionon) for the ages of ages, or during the Millenium ; the fhall be made as fignal a monument of divine vengeance as Sodom and Gomorrah. This is the purpofe of the Lord refpecting Rome, who is mytically called Babylon in this book, and Shall be as certainly and utterly deftroyed, as ancient Babylon of the Chaldeans was, and many of the prophetic expreffions of the deftruction of the one are applied to the other.

I have juft touched upon the fubject of the total deftruction of Rome in the account of the fifth vial, as I fhall not have time to fpeak of it more particularly in this difcourfe; though the defcription and deftruction of this city are matters of fuch valt importance, that two whole chapters, befides part of two others, are taken up therewith; and its final overthrow will be under the feventh vial, juft after the coming of our Lord.

Ver. 12. "A And the fixth angel poured out his "r vial upon the great river Euphrates; and the wa"ter thereof was dried up, that the way of the "k kings of the eaft might be prepared."
Here the fcene appears to me to change, from the Papal to the Mahometan powers, and from Eu rope to Afia. As at the found of the fixtb trumpet, the Turks were loofed to flay the third part of men, fo at the pouring out of the fixth vial, fhall their power be weakened; diminifhed, and fo far dried up, that they fhall no longer be able either to hinder the Tews from returning to their own land, or to prevent the eaftern nations which lie beyond them from receiving the gofpel: both of which they hinder at prefent.

After the pouring out of the fixth vial, the Jews fhall be gathered into their own country, and thall dwell for a little time in peace and fafety, after which their enemies fhall be gathered together againft them, as foretold by Ezekiel, chap. xxxviii. xxxix. and by Zechariah, chap. xiv. Thefe numerous foes of God and his people, fhall be gathered in great numbers, and fhall for a time prevail, but at the coming of the Lord, they thall be terrified and deftroyed.
"Ver. 13, ri4. "And I faw three unclean fpirits " like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragor, " and out of the mouth of the beaft; and out of-the " mouth of the falfe prophet: for they are the fpi"rits of devils working miracles; who go forth unto "the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, "to gather them to the battie of that great day of "God Almighty."

This great army appears to be compofed of the Pagar, Mahometan and Papal powers united, gathered together by marvellous diabolical influence; with an intention to deftroy and fwallow up the Jews.
:Ver. 15. "Behold I come as a thief. Bleffed " is he that watcheth and keepeth his girments, left " he walk naked, and they fee his fhame." Though this verfe being here inferted, feems to difturb the fenfe fenfe and break the connexion, it is introduced for a great purpofe, and exactly in proper time. It not only fhews that Chritt will come fuodenly and unexpectedly, and that thofe are tuly bleffed who are prepared to meet him, who watch and pray, and walk in holy converation and godlinefs; but it points out alfo the very time or feafon when he will come, viz. between the pouring out of the fixth and feventh vial, and when this great army fhall be gathered together.

( 55 )

Ver. 16. "And he (or rather they, that is, the fpirits of devils working miracles) " gathered them " together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue "Armageddon." That is the mointain of deftruction. This mountain of defruction appears from other parts of the facred volume, to be a place not far from Jerufalem ; there thefe enemies fhall fall and be deftroyed, in the battle of that great day of God Almighty, when, as Zechariah fays, "Jehovaн, " fhall go forth, and fight againft thofe nations, as " when he fought in the day of battle. And his " feet fhall ftand in that day upon the mount of "Olives, which is before Jerufalem on the eait, " and the mount of Olives fhall cleave in the midft " thereof toward the eaft, and toward the weft, and " ' there fhall be a very great valley; and half of the " mountain fhall remove toward the north, and half " of it toward the fouth." (Zech. xiv. 3, 4.) It fhall be as evident as poffible, when thefe words fhall be fulfilled; the Lord will appear, the mount of Olives fhall divide and remove, and this mighty holt fhall be deftroyed, and fall in a fudden and aw. ful manner. There will not then the leaft fhadow of a doubt remain. The fame prophet informs us of the manner of their deftruction, "Their fiefh fhall ! confume away while they fand upon their feet,

( $5^{6}$ )

" and their eyes fhall confume away in their holes; " and their tongue fhall confume away in their " mouth." Ver. 12.
So that it fhall be feen to be the work of the Lord, But as I have treated of this fubject at large in my Lectures on the Prophecies, I fhall forbear, and proceed to the laft vial.
Ver. 17. "And the feventh angel poured out his ${ }^{6}$ vial into the air ; and there came a great voice out "s of the temple of Heaven, from the throne, fay". ing, it is done."

The five firft vials appear to be poured out on Ellrope, on the Papal powers; the fixth upon the Turkinh empire ; but this feventh is poured out into the air, the feat of Satan's refidence, who is emphatically ftiled " the prince of the power of the air," (Ephef. ii. 2.) and is reprefented as a principal actor in thefe latter fcenes ; fo that this laft period will not only complete the ruin of the kingdom of the beaft, but will alfo fhake the kingdom of Satan every where; and will prepare the way for the kingdom of Chrift, by deftroying his ftubborn enemies, wherher Pagans; Romanifts, or Mahometans. The effects of this vial fhall be very great and extenfive, far exceeding any of the others, or all of them put together.

Upon the pouring out of this vial a folemn proclamation is made from the throne of God himfelf, IT 1 S DONE; in the fame fenfe as the angel before affirmed (Chap. x. 7.) that "In the days of the feventh "trumpet the myltery of God fhould be finifhed." Under the pouring out of this vial, which will take place, as before oblerved, after the coming of Chrift, the third woe fhall be finifhed, and all the dreadful judgments flall end, and then immediately the glorious kingdom of Chrift fhall take place.

( 57 )

Some of the immediate effects of the feventh vial wre mentioned in the following verfes.

Ver. 18, 19. "And there were voices, and thun"ders, and lightnings; and there was a great earth" quake, fuch as was not fince men were upon the " earth, fo mighty an earthquake and fo great. And "the great city was divided into three parts; and "the cities of the nations fell; and great Babylon "came into remembrance before God, to give unto " her the cup of the wine of the fiercenefs of his "wrath." Thefe voices, tbunders, lightnings, &c. portend very great calamities, and are the ufual attendants of God, efpecially in his judgments. At the giving of the law at mount Sinai, "There were "thunders, and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon " the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceed" ing loud; And mount Sinai was altogether on a " fmoke, becaufe Jehovah defcended upon it in "f fire; and the finoke thereof afcended as the fmoke " of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked "greatly." (Exod. xix. 16, 18.) So likewife in this very book of the Revelations, before the opening of the feven feals, (Chap. iv. 5,) we read, "And " out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thun"ders, and voices." So again before the founding of the feven trumpets, (Chap. viii. 5.) "There "were voices, and thunders, and lightnings, and " an earthquake." And again at the opening of a new vifion, we read (Chap. xi. 19.) "And the "temple of God was opened in heaven, and there "was feen in his temple the ark of his teflament, " and there were lightnings, and voices, and thun"derings, and an earthquake, and great hail." No wonder then that at the pouring out of this feventh vial, by which fuch great things are to be finithed, that we. fhould read of voices, and thunderings and lightnings, &c. Great eartbquakes, in proplietic language, fignify great changes and revolutions; and this, which fhall take place under the feventh vial, thall be fuch an one as men never felt nor experienced before, fuch as suas not fince men zevere upon the eartb. There is no doubt with me but that there will be great natural, as well as political earthquakes at the coming of our Lord, and before the full eftablifhment of his peaceable kingdom. But the mighty revolution that will take place when the kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Chrift, may well be compared to a great earthguake, fuch as never was known before, fo mighty an carthquake cund fo great.

Great Babylon, or Rome, at this time will particularly come in remembrance before God, to give unto ber the cup of the reine of the fiercene/s of bis worath: This is a fubject of great confequence, and therefore it is afterwards particularly refumed, and a large account follows in the next chapters; but as I have already briefly noticed it, in fpeaking of the fifth vial, I Thall not fay any thing farther upon it.

Ver. 20, 2 I. "And every illand fled away, " and the mountains were not found. And there "fell upon men a great hail out of Heaven, every "ftone about the weight of a talent: and men * blafphemed God becaufe of the plague of the hail, " for the plague thereof was exceeding great."

It is faid in Chap. vi. 14, that "Every mountain (and inland were moved out of their places;" which was intended to fignify the fubverfion of the Heathen religion, and its removal out of the Roman Empire, in the beginning of the fourth century; but in this place the expreffions are much ftronger, the iflands fy azvay, and lbe mountains are not found; thefe words can import no lefs than the utter extirpation of all idolatry out of the whole worlds where it hath reisned almoft ever fince the flood; for more than two thirds of mankind are at prefent mere ftupid idolaters, and liave been fo in all ages to this day. But then all idols fiall be utterly abolifhed, and all idolatrous worthip thall be deftroyed, in order that all men that fhall remain, may worihip one Lord, who Ball be King over all the earth.

Great bail often fignifies great judgments; and when it is very large it is in itfelf a dreadful judgment. We read in Jofhua $x$. II, that when the- Children of Ifrael purfued the Amorites, "It came to pals as they "fled from before Ifrael, and were in the going "down to Beth-horon, that Jehovah caft down "great ftones from Heaven upon them unto Aze" kah, and they died; they were more who died " with hailtones, than they whom the Children of "Ifrael new with the fword."

And God threatens the great army of Gog, which Thall be gathered to the battle of that great day, in this awful manner, "And I will plead againt him " with peftilence and with blood; and I-will rain " upon him and upon his bands, and upon the many " peoples that ate with him, an overfowing rain, "and great hailftones, fire and brimforte." Ezek. xxxivii. 22.

There hath frequently been vary large hail, I have heard credible perfons fay, that they have feen them as large as goofe eggs. Diodorus, a grave hiftorian, fpeaks of haiftones, which weighed a pound and more. Philoforgius mentions hail that weighed eight pourds ; but thefe hailfones are about the reeigbt of a talent, or about a hundred pounds, probably a ftrong figure to denote the greatnefs and Severity of thefe judgments, which thall take place at the pouring out of the feventh vial. But fill many men continue obftinate, and blajpheme God be. caufe of the plague of the hail: they remain incorrigible under the divine judgments, and mult be deftroyed before they will be reformed. This is the third time, in this chapter, that men are reprefented as blafpheming God, the name of God, and the God of Heavert, under the moft fore and dreadful judgments that can be inflicted in this life, and therefore it is highly probable, as I have fhewn in my Lectures, that by far the greater part of mankind will be deftroyed, fooner than fubmit to the government of Chrift. But this is no argument at all that he can never bring them to bew in a future flate, as fome jvould fuppofe, becaufe they are hardened under thefe plagues, as Pharoah and moft of the Egyptians were under the plagues of Egypt. For let it be confidered, that all thefe plagues are inflicted upon men in this prefent life, and by which they are flain, fo that none of thefe troubles can long continue here upon the moft ftubborn and rebellious ; but God hath corrections after this life, which are far feverer than any that can be felt for a moment here, and they fhall continue till all are fubdu* ed. So that none of this blafpheming is fpoken of as being the effect of God's punifhments hereafter, but only in the prefent life, under thofe plagues which fhall come upon the earth and its inhabitants, before the kingdom of our Lord fhall take place.

This chapter which I have now read, and endeat woured to explain, is indeed an awful chapter, and contains a fketch in miniature of the third and laft woe, which fhall take place under the founding of this feventh trumpet, which 1 apprehend is now begun. I might fay much more upon the dreadful judgments that fhall come upon the rebellious; but there are a number of other matters in the words of my text, which demand our confideration, and which are joyful fubjects, of the greateft importance.

Under the feventh trumpet our glorious Saviour will perfonally appear; I have already obferved, that he will come between the time of the fixch and feventh vial; all thefe awful difpenfations that are taking place are folemn preparations for that event ${ }_{2}$ and therefore our Lord charges us when we hear of wars and rumours of wars, to fee that we be not trousbled; for all thefe things muft come to pafs. St. Matt. xxiv. 6. St. Mark xiii. 7. St. Luke xxi. 9. And he points out the figns of his coming in the following mannci, "And there fhall be figns in the fun, and " in the moon, and in the ftars; and upon the earth "diftreis of nations, with perplexity, the fea and "the waves roaring; mens hearts failing them for "fear, and for looking after thofe things which are "coming on the earth; for the powers of Heaven " hall be fhaken. And then fhall they fee the Son " of Man coming in a cloud, with power and great "glory. And when thefe things begin to come to "pars, then look up, and lift up your heads; for " your redemption draweth nigh." St. Luke xxi, $25,26,27,28$. The coming of our Saviour in glory, is fuch a joyful event in itfelf, and will be followed by fo many glorious confequences, that it is almoft impoffible for a true Chriftian to think of it without exultation. And this will actually take place under the found of the feventh trumpet.

Another event that fands connected with the founding of the feventh trumpet, is the firf refurrection, or, the refurrection of the juit, for the time of the founding of the feventh trumpet is the time of the dead, that" they fould be judged, and confequently they muft be raifed, and we are affured that when Chrift fhall come, he fhall come with all his faints,

I. Theff. iii. I3, "For if we believe that Jefus died " and rofe again, even fo them alfo who neep in "Jefus, will God bring wih him. For this we " lay unto you by the word of the Lord, that we "sho are alive and remain unto the coming of the "Lord, fhall not prevent them who are afleep. "For the Lord himfelf fhall defcend from Heaven "s with a hour, and with the voice of the archangel, " and with the trump of God: and the dead in "Chuift thall rife firt. Then we who are alive " and remain, fhall be caught up with them in the "clouds, to meet the Lord in the air : and fo fhal! "we ever be with the Lord.". I. Theff. iv. If. 55, 16, 17.
"When Chrift, who is our life mall appear, "then hall ye alfo appear with him in glory." Col. iii. 4. Thus this great event of the refurrection of the dead faints, and the changing of thofe who are prepared for it, who thall be found alive, are fome of thofe grand events which thall take place at the coming of our Lord, and confequently under the founding of the prefent feventh trumpet.

The giving rewards to the juft, is another of thofe glorious events which fhal! come to pafs under the found of this trumpet. Thanks are alcribed to God that the -time is come, that thout /houldeft give reward wnia lby fervants the propbets, and to the faints, and thens that fear thy name, finall and great, We have great reafon to rejoice, that the rewards of the Miltenium are not confined to the prophets, apoitles, martyrs, and firft faints, but extend to all that fear or revere the name of the Lord, both fmall and great. If none were mentioned but firt rate characiers, it would be difcournging to the weak, feeble, and rempted Chriftians, who yet fear the Lord, and endeavour to walk in his ways with fincere hearts:

( 63 )

But for the encouragement of fuch, all that fear the Lord, both fmall and great, are included in the promifed reward. When St. Paul exulted in view of the celeftial crown, he did not confine it to himfelf alone, nor to the Aportles, nor to the martyrs, "I have fought, (fays he,) a good fight. I have "f finifhed my courfe, I have kept the faith; Hence" forth there is laid up for me a crown of righteour" nefs, which the Lord the righteous Judge fhall " give me at that day: and not unto me only, but "s unto all them alfo that love his appearing." 2 Tim. iv. 7, 8. The leaft true lover of Jefus is here included, fo that none have reafon to be difcouraged.

St. James, fays, "Bleffed is the man that en" dureth temptation; for when he is tried, he fhall "receive a crown of life, which the Lord hath "promifed to them that love him." James i. iz. That glorious paffage in the twentieth chapter of this book of Revelations, which defcribes thofe who thall have a part in the firf refurrection, though it firt mentions the martyrs, includes all the faithful worthippers of God, and fuch who had not worthipped the beaft, &c. "And I faw thrones, and they "fat upon them, and judgment was given unto "them: and I faw the fouls of them that were be" headed for the witnefs of Jefus, and for the word " of God, and who had not worfhipped the beaft, " neither his image, neither had received his mark " upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and "s they lived and reigned with Chrit a thoufand " years, But the reft of the dead lived not again " until the thoufand years were finifhed. This is "the firt refiurrection. Bleffed and holy is he that " hath part in the firft refurrection : on fuch the "s fecond death hath no power, but they fhall be " prie!ts spriefs of God and of Chrift, and fhall reign with ${ }^{68}$ him a thoufand years." Rev. xx. 4, 5, 6 . It is plain that all whom God brings with him fhall have a part in the firft refurrection, and we have already feen that thofe zobo lleep in Fefus, will God bring with bim. And the Lord, by the Prophet Malachi, after fpeaking of the dreadful day that fhall confume the wicked doers, adds the following words for the comfort of his people, "But unto you that fear my is name, fhall the fun of righteoufnefs arife with " healing in his wings; and ye flall go forth and " grow up as calves of the ftall." Mal.iv. 2.

"Then they that feared Jehovah, fpake often as one to another, and Jehovaf hearkened, and c6 heard it, and a book of remembrance was written " before him for them that feared Jehovah, and "that thought upon his name. And they fhall be " mine, faith Jehovar of Hofts, in that day when "I make up my jewels, and I will fpare them as a "6 man fpareth his own fon that ferveth him." Mal. ii. 16, 17. Here you fee are gracious promifes to all that fear the Lord, and that think on his name; and no man deferves fo much as the name of a Chriftian, who doth not do fo. Moreover the bleffed Saviour. fecures all who believe and truft in him from the fecond death, which I take to be implied in thefe words, "I am the refurrection and ${ }^{6}$ the life; he that believeth in me, though he were ${ }^{6}$ dead, yet fhall he live: And whofoever liveth "s and believeth in me fhall never die." St. John xi. $25,26$.
" Verily, verily I fay unto you, He that heareth "s my word, and believeth on him that fent me, " hath everlaring life, and fiall not come into "condemnation; but is paffed from death unto, "s life,", St. John v. $24^{\circ}$ © Verily, os Verily, verily I fay unto you, He that be. ss lieveth on me hath everlating life." St. John vi. 47.

( $G_{5}$ )

"' Verily, verily I fay unto you, if a man keep "t my faying, he fhall never fee death.". St. John viii. 5 I.

Thefe are all very encouraging paffages of Scripture, and point out who fhall obtain the reward in fuch a manner, as not to difcourage any who truly fear God, believe in Jefus, and obey the Goifpel.

What are thofe rewards which, God frall give to the prophets, faints, and to thofe who fear his name, both fmall and great? Thefe I mult but barely mention, and fhall confine myfelf to this book of the Revelations.

1. They Joall not be burt of the fecond death. Rev; ii. II.
2. They fhall have a part in the firft refurrection; Chap. xx. 6.
3. They thall eat of the tree of life, robich is in the mililf of the Paradife of God; Chap. ii. 7.
4. They fhall eat of the bidden manna? Ver: 17 .
5. They fall be clothed in wbile raiment; Chap: iii. 5.
6. They fhall have a wobite fone given to them; and in the fone a new name reritten, wobich no man knoweth faving be that receivelb it. Chap. ii. 17: which implies an entire freedom from all condemnation.
7. Their names thall not be blotted out of the book of life; Chap. iii. 5 .
8. Their names fhall be confeffed with honour by our Lord Jefus, before his Fatber, and befure bis Angels: Ver. 5.
9. They Ball walk with Chrift in zobile, being judged wortby of fo great an honour: Ver. 4.
10. Chrift

( 66 )

10. Chrift will write upon them three great and honourable names; thus expreffed by himfelf, The name of my God, and the name of the city of my Goa, Nerv ferufalem, wobich cometh doton out of Heaven fronz sny God: and my nerw name: fays the blefied Jefus: Ver. 12.
11. They fhall have power over the nations; and shey foall rule them reith a rod of iron, to fubdue them, even as Chrift received of his Father: Chap. iis 26, $2 \%$.
12. Each of them thall have a crozeri of life ; Ver. 10.
13. They faall be priefts of God and of Cbrift, and fall reign weith bim a thoufand years: Chap. xx. 6.
14. They fhall fit zeith Chrift in bis throne, even as he overcame, and is fet aown with the Fatber in bis tbrone: Chap. iii. 21 .
15. Chrift weill make them pillars in the temple of God, and they fall go no more out: Ver. 12.
16. He will give them the morning far: Chap. 3i. 28.
17. They fall fee bis face; and bis name frall be ins their forebeads: Chap. xxii. 4 .
18. They thall bave a right to the tree of life, and fhall enter in through the gates into the city, the New Jerufalem. Ver. 14.
19. They faall inderit all things; Chap, xxi. 7.
20. They fall reign for ever and evers, in the new earth. Chap. xxii. 5 .

Thefe glorious rewards are fufficient to animate the hopes of all that fear the name of the Lord, both fmall and great. But I muft not enlarge.

The great event of all, which is contanned in the words of my text, and which is celebrated in the praifes of the elders, is the kingdom of Chritt ond carth earhh, and his dominion over the kingdoms of this wiworld.

( 67 )

I liavè already folken of his wictory over Antichrift, and fome of the methods whereby he fhall deftroy his fubbórn and rebellious foes, who will not bave bim to reign over them. When this is effected, his kingdom and government fhall take place univerfally through the globe; and prevait over all.
There is one method which he will take to bring all nations to fubmit to his government; which is the moft effectual that could poflibly be devifed; and that is, that there flaill be no ritin upon the countries of thofe people who refufe to do homage to him; for it is cereain that this is one of the moft irrefiftible méans in nature, and will certainly be effectual inf all thofe lands which depend upon the fhowers of Heaven for their food; and there is an exception made refpecting thofe countries which have no dependence upon rain for their frtiffuinefs. and for the fubduing of which another judgment is appointed. Though this is prophefied of but once, jet it is a mólt plain and pofitive prediction, and exprefied in clear ahd determinate language. See Zech. xiv. 16, 17, 18, 19. "And it fiall come ${ }^{\circ 6}$ to pals, that every one that is left of all the " nations which catme adainft Jerufalem, fhall even "go up from year to year to worlhip the King, © Jeнoуaн of Hofts, and to keep the fealt of "taberiacles. And it hall be, that whofo will not "come up of all the families of the earth unto "Jerufalent, to worfhip the King, Iehovam of "Holts; èven upon them shali be no rain. "And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come "s not, that have no rain; there thall be the plague " wherewith Jeyovah will fmite the heathen that $\%$ " some
s: come not up to keep the feart of tabernacles. "This fhall be the punifhment of Egypt, and the "punifhment of all nations that come not up to keep "6 the feat of tabernacles."

The matfer is exceeding plain, and it is impoffible to fpiritualize it away; for it is not the witholding of the firitual rain of righteoufnefs and grace, that would ever make the nations fubmit to Jefus, but the witholding of the natural rain will foon bring them down. Befides, would any perfon affert that Egypt, that was once famous for chriftianity, neverhad any fpiritual rain? this would be abfurd to the laft degree: Let the words fand as they are, and they make good fenfe, but alter them any way, and they become nonfenfe. If Egypt, and other African countries that have no rain, refufe to fubmit, the inhabitants fhall be cut off by a fudden and terrible plague, fimilar to what is mentioned, Zech. xiv. 12. And all other countries that refufe to bow thall be abfolutely deprived of rain until they fubmit.

It is very eafy to fee that in a very fhore time all nations fhall be brought to yield obedience to him; and the kingdoms of this world fhall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of bis Cbrift; and be foall reigh, eis tous aionas ton aionon; which our tranflators have tranflated, for ever and ever, bue which appears in (Chap. $\mathrm{xx} .2,3,4,5,6,7$, ) to be only a thoufand years, and is fix times limited to that period. So that here the words which are ufed imply bidden duration, or ages of ages, without fpecifying the exact length of the periods: but in Chap. xx. the time is made known with great exactnefs. It is true that Chrift fhall reigh much more than a thouland years in all, for be fall reign till be bath put all enemies under bis feet: 1 Cor. xv. 25 ; but his reign over the kingdions of this zworld, before the fecond refurrection, the general judgment and the conflagtation, fhall be a thoufand years. And this the period fpoken of in the words of my text. There is nothing in this view of the kingdom of Chrift, that has any tendency to give umbrage or diffatisfaction to the prefent mo: narchs, kings, rulers, or governors of the earth, for though all the kingdoms of the world fhall become the Lord's, and his Chrift's, yet this is no encouragement for any ufurpers to rife and feize upon them, under a pretence of their being the Lord's people, and that they are going to take poffeffion of the kingdoms for him; for Chrift himfelf will come in perfon, to take the kingdoms of this world under his government, fo that this part of my text will not be accomplifhed till after his appearing in glory, and the firft refurrection has taken place.

But although there is nothing faid here which can reafonably give the fmalleft offence to the kings of the earth, yet if I had the honour of addrefling them all at this time, I would prefs earneftly upon them the advice which David gave them fo long ago. "Be wife now, therefore, O ye kings! "be inftructed, ye judges of the earth! Serve "Jehovaн with fear, and rejoice with trembling, "kifs the Son, left he be angry, and ye perifh from "the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. "Bleffed are all they that put their truft in him.". Pfalmiii. 10, II, 12 .

Chrift our Saviour is the rightful heir to all the kingdoms of the world, and he will at length obtain poffeffion of his right; "yea, all kings thall fall "down before him: all nations fhall ferve him." Pfalm lxxii. ir.

He will be juft fuch an abfolute monarch as all good men would wifh fhould gavern the world, and reign over mankind.

And I muft but juft mention them, and refer you to the fecond volinte of my Lectures on the Prophecies, for a full accoint and defcription of them. And therefore I frall mention them in the farge order in which I have treated of them there.

sis iffes Thall bring prefents, Sheba and Seba fhall "offer gifts. Yea, all kings thall fall down before " him ; all nations fhall ferve him." Pfalm lxxii. 8 , 9, 10, 1 I.
2. Hịs governmient thall be juf, equitable, rigbteous. friendly to mankind, efpecially to the poor and needy: There mall be no oppreffion, injuftice, or defrauding amongtt mankind during the time of his reign. As hes laws thall be juft, fo his government "Mall be as the light of the morning when the fun "rifeth, even a morning without clouds; as the "tender grafs fpringing out of the earth by clear "thining after rain". 2 Sam. xxiiii 4. "He fhall "judge the poor of the people, he thall fave the "children of the needy, and fhall break in pieces "the oppreffor. He fhall re" deem their foul from deceit and violence: and "precious fhall theit tlood be in his fight." Pfal. Ixxii. 4, 12, $13,14$.
3. Another bleffing that fhall take place under the Mefliah's government, fhall be univerfal and conftant peace, during the whole period of his reign. This is prophefied of in the moft exprefs terms, booth by Ifaiah, Chap. ii. and Micah, Chap. iv. in thefe words: "And he fhall judge among the na"tions, and fhall rebuke many people: and they fhall "beat their fwords into plow-fhares, and their "fpears into pruning hooks: nation thall not lift up "fword againft nation, neither hall they learn war "any more." Ifaiah ii. 4.
"And he fhall judge among many people, and "r rebuke ftrong nations afar off; and they fhall beat "f their fwords inte plow-fhares; and their fpears " into

( 72 )

*s into pruning hooks, (or fcythes) nation fhall not " lift up a fword againft nation, neither fhall they ${ }^{66}$ learn war any more. But they fhall fit every man "under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none " fhall make them afraid: for the mouth of Jeno" var hath fpoken it." Micah iv. 3, 4 .
"The mountains fhall bring peace to the people, ${ }^{6} 6$ and the little hills by righteoufnefs. In his days "fhall the righteous flourifh; and abundance of "peace fo long as the moon endureth." Pfal. lxxii. 3, 7.
"A And he fhall fpeak peace unto the Heathen; "s and his dominion fhall be from fea to fea, and "from the river even to the ends of the earth." ${ }^{6}$ Zech. ix. 10.
"In that day, faith Jehovai of Hofts, fhall ye "call every man his neighbour under the vine, and "s under the fig-tree." Chap. iii. Io.

Thus it is evident, that war fhall be no more known in that happy time, nor fhall it be taught as an art, nor fhall weapons of war be made, nor any thing tending thereto be encouraged, but on the contrary. This plainly fhews that the time has never yet been; for to this day wars have been made, and preparations carried on: but then it hall be fo no more.
$\therefore$ 4. In the time of the Millenium it appears from prophecy, that all enmity fhall be deftroyed from among the animals, and they fhall be brought nearly into the fate they were in when they were firf created. "The wolf alfo fhall dwell with the lamb, and "t the leopard fhall lie down with the kid; and the "calf, and the young lion, and the fatling together, "a and a little child fhall lead them. And the cow "s and the bear fhall feed, their young ones fhall lie"down together: and the lion fhall eat ftraw like:

73 )

6: the ox. And the facking child fhall play on the ${ }^{66}$ hole of the afp, and the weaned child fhall put st his hand on the cockatrice den. They fhall not "hurt nor deftroy in all my holy mountain : for "the earth fhall be full of the knowledge of Jebo"vah, as the waters cover the fea." Ifaiah xi. 6 ; 7, 8, 9i
"The wolf and the lamb frall feed together, and "the lion thall eat ftraw like the bullock; and duft "f thall be the ferpents meat. They fhall not hurt "s nor deftroy in all my holy mountain faith. Jeноtah." Chaps lxv. 25.
5. Another bleffing that fhall take place and continue during the Millenium is plenty; the curfe fhall be taken from the earth, and it fhall yield immenfe increafe with but very little labour. "Then fhall ${ }^{\text {"t }}$ the earth yield her increafe; and God, even our "c own God thall blefs uş." Pfal. lxvii. 6. God fays, "And I will caufe the fhower to come down in " his feafon, there thall be thowers of bleffing: ${ }^{6}$ And the tree of the field fhall yjeld her fruit, and "the earth fhall yield her fruit, and the earth fhall "y yield her increafe, and they (the people) Thall be "fafe in threir land. And I will raife up for them a is plant of renown, and they fhall be no more con"fumed witth hinger in the land." Ezek. xxxiv. $26,27,29$. Whether this plant of renown is the bread fruit-tree, (whicli government has taken fuch pains to tranfplant from the ifland of Otaheite, to the Weft Indies) or any other plant that fhall be raifed for the fame purpofe, I fhall not pretend abfolutely to determine; but it is very certain that the fear of famine fhall be wholly removed in that time: "And "I will call for the corn', and will increafe it, and "c will lay no famine upon you. And I will multi©s ply the fruit of the tree, and the increafe of the "fieldg field, that ye thall recieve no more reproacin of "famine." Ezek. xxxyi: 29, 30.

( 74 )

The earth fhall be filled with pienty, as well as peace, and neither war, famine, peftilence, nor the terrible fiercenefs of wild beafts fhall annoy', hurt, deftroy or even terrify the inhabitants of the earth in thofe bleffed lays.
6. I confider it as highly probable, if not abfolutely certain, that in the time of the Millenium, women fhall bring forth the fruit of the womb without danger, and with little or no pain; being delivered from the curfe pronounced at the fall: *They fhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth " for trouble: for they are the feed of the bleffed " of Jehovar; and their offspring with them." Tfaiah Ix̀v. ${ }^{3}$,
7. And as the danger and pain of child bearing thall be in a great meafure, if not wholly removed, fo they fhall not have that forrow which is now fo common of being deprived of their children in their, infincy, "There fhall be no more thence ah infant *) of days, nor an old main that hath nor filled his his days: for the child fuall die an hundred years "old; but the finner being an hundred years old " thall be accurfed." Ifüiah lxy: 20:

Or as Biffiop Lowth renders the paffage,

* No more fhall be there an infant fhort lived;
- Nor an old man who hath not fulfilled his days;
a. For he that dieth at an hundred years fhall die a "boy;
*And the finner that dieth at an fundred years "hal! " be deemed accirfed."
So that it is evident that no infants fhall dic.

Lorveth's tranflation:
9. In the Millenitum, or during the thoufand years of the reign of Chrif, the earth will anfwer the great purpofe for which it was made ; for God "created " it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited." Ifaiah xlv. 18. but it hath never fince the flood been a quarter populated, nor a tenth part of it cultivated ; and a great part of it at prefent cannot be inhabited and tilled, becaufe of its barrennefs in confequence of the curfe; but when the moft barren defarts fhall become fruitful fields, and the curfe fhall be removed, and the earth fhall yield its increafe: and when wars, famines, peftilences, plagues and defolations thall be no more, and no children thall die in their infancy, the world fhall foon become very populous; and according to the calculation which I have made in my Lectures, more than five hunderd times the number may be born during the L time of the Millenium, than have been born fince the creation, even allowing fixty perfons to have been born every minute from that time to the end of fix thoufand years.

So that our Lord may be able with truth to fay, that there are more happy under his government at once in the time of his kingdom on earth, than ever fin and death tyrannized over, put all together from the beginning of time,
10. In the time of our Saviour's reign on earth, the world fhall not only be full of people, living happily in peace, bealth, and plenty, under the moft excellent government, but they thall all know, fear, love, ferve, and adore the Lord, with all their hearts. The knowledge of God fhall be univerfal ; for thus hiṣ word declares. "For the earth thall be " filled with the knowledge of the glory of Jero"vah, as the waters, cover the fea." (Hab. ii. 14.) "As truly as I live, all the earth thall be filled with "t the glory of Jehovah. Numbers xiv. 2t.
"For, from the rifing of the fun to the going "d down of the fame, my name fhall be great among "s the Gentiles; and in every place incenfe fhall bee os offered unto my name, and a pure offering: for " my name fhali be great among the Heathen, "faith Jehovah of Hofts." Mal. i. in.
"For the earth fhall be full of the knowledge. " of Jehovah, as the waters cover the fea." Ilai. xi. 9 .
"They ihall teach no more every man his " neighbour, and every man his brother, faying, "Know Jehovai; for all fhall know me, from "s the leaft of them unto the greateft of them; faith "Jehovah; for I will forgive their iniquity, "s and remember their fin no more." Jer. xxxio. $34^{\circ}$

There paffages fufficiently prove that the knowo ledge of God thall be univerfal at that time. God will write his laws upon the hearts of all men, and they fhall ferve hin willingly, with the higheft delight and fatisfaction. Then thall it be far more difficult to find vice upon earth than it is now to find virtue ; as I truft I have made evident in my Lectures, to which I refer you.
II. In thofe bleffed times there fhall be no dif. ferences of fentiment : all fhall be harmony and love: no contradiction in the public inftructions: all minifters fhall agree, in principle and practice, in faith and worfhip. "Thy watchmen fhall lift " up the voice; with the voice together fhall they " fing: for they fhall fee eye to eye, when Je" ноvaн thall bring again Zion." Ifaiah lii. 8 . So that there thall be no divifion among the teachers; but they thall be perfecily joined logetber in the fame mind, and in the fame judgment. I Cor。 i. 10.
12. Then fhall our Saviour's prayer for unity in his Church be anfwered and accomplifhed, and the glorious confequences fhall follow. "That they " (who believe in me) all may be one; as thou "s Father art in me, and I in thee, that they alfo " may be one in us; that the world may believe " that thou haft fent me.- That they may be one, "even as we are one. I in them, and thou in me, " that they may be made perfect in one, and that "the world may know that thou haft fent me." St. John xvii. 21, 22, 23. When this perfect unity takes place among believers, the converfion of the whole world will foon follow. Thefe are fome of the great and glorious bleffings that will take place under the government of the Lord; in the time of the Millenium; and which will render his kingdom Worthy of being the fubject of the higheit exultation and praife of all the hots of Heaven, who will fay as in the words of my text, with which I hall con- 4 claude, "We give thee thanks, O Lord, "God, Almighty, who art, and wast, and "A ART TO come; because thou hast taken 's to thee thy great power, and hast "6 Reigned。"
